ITPLC-03: Background / History:

Transcript --- ITPLC-03-MarshaPysz-BackgroundAndHistory-08m36stxt revised, cleaned-up a bit for book presentation capability, with the assistance of xAI/Grok…

This chapter was transcribed and edited for narrative flow by Grok (built by xAI).

Marsha Pysz stepped to the podium with quiet confidence. The audience settled in as Debra Bloomfield completed her introduction and handed the floor over.

“Thank you, Debra,” Marsha began, smiling warmly at the crowd. “Hello, everyone, and welcome.

”She leaned slightly into the microphone. “Tonight I’m going to give you a quick introduction to pro-life history. I know history lessons can sometimes feel dry, but I’ll do my best to keep this short, sweet, and meaningful.

”Marsha paused for a moment, then spoke with calm conviction.“

The pro-life movement rests on one foundational truth: every human being possesses inherent value and dignity, regardless of size, stage of development, or circumstances. Throughout history, that truth has always had defenders—even when it stood in direct opposition to the surrounding culture.”

Why History Matters…

She reminded the audience of the famous warning: those who do not learn from history are doomed to repeat it. Abortion, she explained, was not a modern invention. The ancient Greeks and Romans routinely used plant-based abortifacients. When those failed, they practiced infanticide, abandoning unwanted newborns to exposure, the elements, or wild animals. In those societies, human life was cheap and disposable.

“We have come full circle,” Marsha said. “In our modern, enlightened age, human life is once again being treated as disposable.”

The Countercultural Stand…

The early Christian Church took a radically different path. As early as the second century, Christian theologians openly condemned abortion as the killing of a child. This tension between the culture of death and the culture of life persisted for centuries.

In the nineteenth century, the emerging science of embryology gave physicians a far clearer understanding of fetal development. That knowledge led the medical profession across America and Europe to strongly prohibit abortion.

The Rise of the Culture of Death…

The consensus began to crumble in the 1930s and 1940s. A new philosophy gained ground, advanced by Margaret Sanger, founder of Planned Parenthood. Sanger championed birth control, eugenics, and population control. Over time, Planned Parenthood became the nation's largest abortion provider, strategically placing many clinics in poor and minority neighborhoods.

In response, the modern pro-life movement began to organize. At first it was largely Catholic, grounded in Church teaching and a deep commitment to supporting mothers and families. In 1968, Monsignor James T. McHugh helped establish the National Right to Life Committee.

On the other side, Dr. Bernard Nathanson and Betty Friedan became leading voices for abortion rights. They pushed the narrative that women must have complete control over their bodies and pregnancies.

Marsha noted an important historical irony: many of the early leaders of the women's suffrage movement had been strongly pro-life. Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Sarah Norton all opposed abortion. Susan B. Anthony had even referred to it as "child murder."

Shifting the Culture…

Pro-abortion advocates slowly moved public opinion through carefully chosen language — "choice," "reproductive healthcare," "women's rights" — along with selective statistics, media influence, and the introduction of their materials into sex-education programs from kindergarten through college.

In the late 1960s and early 1970s, several states dramatically liberalized their abortion laws. New York became an abortion destination, performing more than 200,000 procedures a year with almost no restrictions. These developments shocked many Americans and helped bring evangelical Protestants into the pro-life fold, led in part by Jerry Falwell and the Moral Majority.

One of the most powerful conversions came from an unlikely source. Dr. Bernard Nathanson, who had personally performed or overseen more than 60,000 abortions, changed his position after witnessing the reality of fetal development through new ultrasound technology. He spent the rest of his life speaking, writing, and producing films against abortion.

Michigan's Own Story…

Marsha brought the history closer to home. In 1972, Jane Waldron founded Voice for the Unborn in Michigan. The group quickly grew to more than 110,000 members. They fought hard against a proposed amendment that would have legalized abortion up to twenty weeks of pregnancy.

After the Supreme Court's Roe v. Wade decision in 1973, the organization evolved. By 1979 it had become Right to Life of Michigan, headquartered in Grand Rapids. What began as a largely Catholic movement had grown into a broad, diverse coalition of Christians, secular supporters, and people from every racial and economic background — all united in defense of the unborn.

Living Out the Culture of Life…

Marsha emphasized that the pro-life movement was never only about politics or legislation. Crisis Pregnancy Centers — now often called Pregnancy Resource Centers — outnumber abortion facilities three to one nationwide. These centers offer free ultrasounds, mentoring, parenting classes, and practical support. Thousands of women choose life each year because someone was willing to walk beside them.

The movement also reaches out to those who have experienced abortion, offering healing through ministries such as Rachel's Vineyard and Abortion Recovery International.

"Ordinary people make up this movement," Marsha told the audience. "Moms and dads, grandparents, students, blue-collar workers, professionals — people from every walk of life."

She closed with two powerful quotes. First, President John F. Kennedy: "One person can make a difference, and everyone should try." Then Ronald Reagan: "We cannot diminish the value of one category of human life without diminishing the value of all human life."

The Heart of the Mission…

At its core, the culture of life is the belief that every human being is sacred and irreplaceable — regardless of age, ethnicity, disability, or circumstance. People are not objects to be discarded when they become inconvenient. Life is a gift to be cherished, protected, and passed on with reverence to the next generation.

Marsha stepped back from the podium. Debra Bloomfield stood and nodded with appreciation. “Thank you, Marsha,” she said warmly. “That was excellent. I learned some new things myself tonight.”

ITPLC-04: Sidewalk Counseling:

Transcript --- ITPLC-04-EmmanuelLughermo-SidewalkCounseling-12m53stxt, cleaned-up a bit for book presentation capability, with the assistance of xAI/Grok…

This chapter was transcribed and edited for narrative flow by Grok (built by xAI).

Emmanuel Lughermo made his way to the front of the room as Debra Bloomfield invited him forward. “Thank you, Debra,” Emmanuel began, addressing the audience with quiet intensity. “As we speak right now, there are sidewalk counselors standing outside an abortion facility. They will remain there until closing time at 10:13 tonight. We go out every week — sometimes twice a week — trying to reach mothers and offer them a different choice.”

Emmanuel has been involved in sidewalk counseling since 2008. He serves with Image Clear Ultrasound and is a key volunteer with Gabriel’s Workshop, a growing ministry that supports mothers who choose life.

“As Christians,” he continued, “we believe every human life is sacred. Respect for human dignity is the foundation of a moral society. This truth stands at the heart of all our social teaching. Every person is valuable. The true test of any society is whether it protects or harms innocent human life.”

The Reality at the Sidewalk…

Emmanuel explained that only six nations in the world still permit abortions after twenty weeks — the United States is one of them. “Big abortion and Big Pharma are deeply connected,” he said. “Later-term abortions provide more developed fetal tissue that is often used in medical research.”

Most abortions occur between six and twelve weeks, but some babies are born alive during the procedure and left to die. At twenty-two weeks — just four and a half months — a premature baby can often survive with medical care.

“In cases of rape,” Emmanuel stated firmly, “the only person who dies is the innocent child. The rapist belongs in jail. The mother needs counseling and support. The baby deserves to live. Children are a blessing, no matter how they come into the world.”

The sidewalk outside Summit Abortion in Detroit is one of the busiest and most difficult locations. The neighborhood is rough, and the hostility is real. “I am often told to mind my own business,” Emmanuel shared. “But I cannot stay silent when an innocent child is about to be destroyed.”

Compassion in the Crisis…

During a crisis pregnancy, a mother’s fears and vulnerabilities are magnified. Yet God loves both the mother and her baby deeply. He desires to bring good out of suffering and lead her into peace rather than the lasting pain abortion brings.

Emmanuel quoted St. Oscar Romero: “Peace is not the product of terror or fear. Peace is not the silence of cemeteries. Peace is not the silent result of violent repression. Peace is the generous, tranquil, and active contribution of all to the good of all.”

He reminded the audience that our bodies are not disposable. They are sanctified by the sacraments and destined for resurrection. Every human body houses an immortal soul and deserves profound respect.

Understanding Her Fears…

One of the most powerful moments in sidewalk counseling, Emmanuel explained, is when a mother opens up and shares her heart. That trust is a sacred privilege.

“Jesus promised that perfect love casts out all fear,” he said. “We see it happen on the sidewalk all the time.”

To love someone effectively, we must first understand their fears. Emmanuel outlined the five deepest fears that often drive a woman toward abortion:

1. I am all alone.
2. I am not enough.
3. It is all up to me.
4. There is no room for this baby in the heart of the father.
5. There is no room for this baby in the heart of my family.

The feeling of total isolation is often the most painful. Many women feel abandoned by the baby’s father, their own family, and their friends. In that moment of vulnerability, they need someone to stand with them.

Gabriel’s Workshop exists to fill that gap. The ministry provides practical help — ultrasounds, baby supplies, housing support, rides, and more — while walking with mothers for months or even years.

A Story of Hope…

Emmanuel shared one of the most dramatic stories from his years on the sidewalk.

"I met a young woman named Carly. I tried to speak with her as she entered the facility, but she went inside. About fifteen minutes later, she came back out for a cigarette. I approached her calmly and said, 'Come with me. We will give you a free ultrasound. We will help you.'"

She hesitated, but eventually agreed. Emmanuel took her to Gabriel's Workshop. The staff there embraced her with love and practical support. Carly chose life for her baby.

Later, she asked Emmanuel to become the godfather of her daughter. He accepted. Today that little girl, Majesty Love, is six years old and thriving.

"That was the most dramatic story I've witnessed," Emmanuel said, "but I have seen many others choose life."

The Heart of Sidewalk Counseling…

Emmanuel closed by emphasizing the deeper mission. Sidewalk counselors are often the only ones offering love to both the mother and her unborn child at that critical moment. Their work is not just about saving babies — it is about restoring hope, dignity, and a future for both mother and child.

Debra Bloomfield stood and thanked him warmly. "Thank you, Emmanuel. That was wonderful."

Emmanuel smiled. "It is an honor to serve. The volunteers at Gabriel's Workshop offer far more than physical help — they offer emotional support, friendship, and the love of Christ."

ITPLC-05: Medical Perspective:

Transcript --- ITPLC-05-MJFavot-MedicalPerspective-transcript-21m09stxt, cleaned-up a bit for book presentation capability, with the assistance of xAI/ Grok…

This chapter was transcribed and edited for narrative flow by Grok (built by xAI).

Debra Bloomfield stepped to the microphone with a warm smile. “I want to introduce M.J. — Mary Jane Favot. She is a nurse practitioner, far more than just a nurse. She also manages the gift shop at the Fatima Shrine in Riverview, a wonderful place to visit for religious gifts and books.”

M. J. Favot approached the podium. “Thank you, Debbie,” she began. “Can everyone hear me in the back? God bless you.”

M.J. thanked the organizers for the opportunity to speak and offered an important disclaimer: her four to five decades in healthcare had focused primarily on the care of older adults. Yet she quickly noted something profound.

“There are remarkable similarities between the beginning of life and the end of life — in many ways, shapes, and forms.”

She spoke clearly about threats to human life, addressing abortion, assisted suicide, and even certain aspects of in vitro fertilization (IVF). M.J. emphasized that the key issue in all these discussions is intentionality — the willful act meant to end a human life.

Clarifying the Terms…

M.J. explained that many terms in today’s media are confusing. Unplanned or unintended events that result in death — such as miscarriages — are tragedies, not moral equivalents to intentional acts.

“When we speak of abortion,” she said, “we are talking about an act or procedure done with the willful intent to cause the death of an unborn child between fertilization and natural birth.”

Assisted suicide, she added, is an act with the willful intent to cause death to someone who desires to end their life.

Miscarriages and Unintended Losses…

M.J. walked the audience through natural losses that are often mislabeled. She pointed out that Google and medical records sometimes still use the outdated term "spontaneous abortion" for miscarriage — something she found misleading.

She described ectopic pregnancies, where the child implants outside the uterus (often in the fallopian tube). These are medical emergencies that can endanger the mother's life and require immediate surgical intervention. They are not abortions, because the intent is not to kill the child but to save the mother.

The Abortion Pill (Medical Abortion)…

M.J. explained that over half of all abortions in the United States today are chemical abortions using pills. The most common regimen involves two drugs:

- Mifepristone (200 mg) — blocks progesterone, the hormone that nourishes the unborn child, causing the child to die.
- Misoprostol (800 mg) — taken 24–48 hours later, causes powerful uterine contractions to expel the child.

This process often happens at home, alone. Serious risks include heavy bleeding, infection, and in some cases, death. M.J. shared sobering data from government reports showing thousands of adverse events, including hospitalizations and deaths, even though only reported cases are counted.

Surgical Abortions…

In the first trimester, the most common surgical method is suction curettage (vacuum aspiration). In the second trimester, dilation and evacuation (D&E) — sometimes called dismemberment abortion — is frequently used. M.J. noted the grim reality that the baby's body parts must be reassembled afterward to ensure nothing remains inside the mother.

She also mentioned procedures that are now rare or restricted, such as partial-birth abortion, which remains illegal in most cases except when necessary to save the mother's life.

IVF and the Creation of New Life…

M.J. included IVF in her talk because of the serious moral and life issues it raises. Multiple embryos are often created, genetically tested, and selectively implanted. “Fetal reduction” (the intentional elimination of some embryos) is sometimes performed to improve the chances for the others.

Hundreds of thousands of frozen embryos now exist in the United States. Many are discarded, used for research, or left in indefinite cryopreservation. M.J. encouraged the audience to learn about NaProTechnology — a morally sound, restorative approach to infertility that treats underlying conditions rather than bypassing them.

Assisted Suicide…

Finally, M.J. addressed assisted suicide, also known as Physician-Assisted Suicide (PAS) or Medical Assistance in Dying (MAiD). While euthanasia (where the doctor directly administers the lethal dose) is illegal in the United States, assisted suicide is legal in twelve states and under consideration in many others.

She warned about the danger of insurance companies offering assisted suicide as a cheaper alternative to life-saving treatment — a trend already reported in places like California.

M.J. closed by reminding everyone that every life — from its very beginning to its natural end — is sacred and worthy of protection.

“Thank you,” she said simply.

Debra Bloomfield thanked her warmly for the powerful and informative presentation.

ITPLC-06: Legislative Perspective:

Transcript --- ITPLC-06-MIHouseRepJimDeSana-LegislativePerspective-14m21stxt, cleaned-up a bit for book presentation capability, with the assistance of xAI/Grok…

This chapter was transcribed and edited for narrative flow by Grok (built by xAI).

Debra Bloomfield introduced the next speaker with warmth. James DeSana Jr. stepped to the podium, still wearing his baseball cleats from throwing the first pitch at Pulaski Park earlier that day — the same park where he had played as an eight-year-old boy.

“Thank you,” James began with a smile. “Most of you know me, and I see so many familiar faces.”

He represents Michigan’s 29th House District, which includes Taylor, Romulus, Ash Township, Frenchtown Township, and parts of Monroe County down to the River Raisin. Now in his second term, James shared how he first won election as the only Republican challenger to defeat an incumbent during the fight over Proposal 3.

“I was very blessed,” he said. “The area I represent is largely pro-life. Proposal 3 passed in Taylor, but it lost everywhere else in my district — and it lost badly in Monroe County.”

James and his wife have eight children — four boys and four girls — and they were expecting their seventeenth grandchild. He spoke openly about the spiritual nature of the battle for life.

Building a Culture of Life…

“In trying to build a culture of life,” James advised, “start with yourself. Nurture your faith first. Build your foundation first. You will get tired. You will get weary. You will wonder if you’re really doing any good. But yes, you are. This is spiritual warfare, and it is not for the faint of heart.”

When he first entered the State House, James joined the House Bible Study. The group has worked through the books of Samuel, Daniel, Luke, and now Esther. He finds strength and insight praying and studying Scripture with fellow legislators.

As a representative, he offered clear guidance: reject the current culture of death, but do not withdraw from society. Instead, engage it.

"You need to connect with people," he said. "Even when it's unpleasant. Even when they scream at you. Sometimes I know it's not the person — it's a demon coming out from within them."

James encouraged the audience to reach out to those sitting on the sidelines. Invite them to Right to Life events, walks, or meetings. Many will join once someone simply asks.

Fighting Big Government and False Ideas…

He strongly rejected the notion that children are too expensive. "That is completely false," he declared. As a legislator, he sees how government taxes and regulations make life more difficult for families. Everything from parking fees to marriage licenses is a form of tax. When government grows too large and intrusive, it burdens the very families it claims to help.

James noted that compassion should come from the Church and individuals, not from government redistribution. True compassion flows from Christ, not from theft through taxation.

The Current Reality in Michigan…

Because of Proposal 3, abortion is now constitutionally protected in Michigan for any reason at any time. James explained that direct legislative bans are currently blocked, but other battles remain winnable.

On assisted suicide, he delivered good news: "When we took the House, assisted suicide died for the next two years. We have 58 strong members who will not let those bills move forward."

He encouraged continued engagement with legislators. While a full ban is not possible right now, smaller protections and regulations can still be pursued. He also shared that a bill to abolish abortion in Michigan has been introduced, even if its immediate success is unlikely.

Practical Steps Forward…

James urged the audience to get involved in local crisis pregnancy centers. He serves on the board of Heartbeat of Monroe and shared a powerful story of a woman who had already had eight abortions. She walked into the center thinking it was an abortion facility and left choosing life for her child.

"Get involved in every pro-life event you can," he said. "Bring people from your church, your family, your kids, and your grandkids. They will be edified by it."He reminded everyone that the pro-life movement is about love — loving both mother and child, and walking with them long after birth.

When meeting with legislators, James offered simple advice: be friendly, be respectful, and build relationships. While many Democrats are firmly set on abortion, there are openings on other life issues such as assisted suicide and vaccine freedom.

Final Encouragement…

James closed by calling on the audience to keep building an army of warriors — one heart, one conversation, and one act of service at a time.

The group then took a short break. Debra Bloomfield thanked James for his powerful testimony and encouraged everyone to return refreshed for the rest of the evening.

ITPLC-07: Margaret Sanger's: The Negro Project:

Transcript --- ITPLC-07-BruceFleury-SangersNegroProject-08m52stxt, cleaned-up a bit for book presentation capability, with the assistance of xAI/Grok…

This chapter was transcribed and edited for narrative flow by Grok (built by xAI).

Debra Bloomfield welcomed the next speaker with enthusiasm. "Our second half will move a little faster. I want to introduce Bruce Fleury of WAAM Radio and the author of the book The Negro Project. Bruce, come on up."

Bruce Fleury stepped to the podium and thanked the organizers, especially Joe Lenard, an avid WAAM listener. "Thank you for having me," he began. "I first got involved in the pro-life movement through a program called Joshua's Trail on WDTK, hosted by Pastor Levon Yuille, who was then president of the National Black Pro-Life Congress. That's when I started digging deeper into the history of abortion and its impact on the Black community."

Bruce explained that his research led him to write The Negro Project, a book examining Margaret Sanger's agenda and its lasting effects. Copies of the book were available on the table for $15.

Who Was Margaret Sanger???

Bruce gave a thumbnail sketch of Sanger's life. Born in the late 19th century in upstate New York into a large, struggling family, Sanger became a nurse. She watched her mother die from cervical cancer after many pregnancies and grew deeply resentful of large families. She came to believe that the world's problems were caused by overpopulation, especially among the poor and minorities.

Sanger initially opposed abortion, calling it the destruction of a child growing inside the mother's body. However, her real goal was sterilization and birth control — preventing certain people from ever conceiving. She was heavily involved in the eugenics movement, which sought to "improve" the human race by controlling who was allowed to reproduce.

The Eugenic Agenda…

One of the most disturbing quotes Bruce shared came from Sanger herself: "We should hire three or four colored ministers, preferably with social-service backgrounds and with engaging personalities. The most successful educational approach to the Negro is through a religious appeal. We don't want the word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population."

Bruce emphasized that Sanger and her allies viewed Black Americans, immigrants, and the poor as "human weeds" needing to be controlled. Planned Parenthood, which she founded, became the largest abortion provider in the country and strategically placed many clinics in Black and minority neighborhoods.

The Devastating Impact…

Bruce pointed out the heartbreaking statistics. Though Black Americans make up roughly 13–14% of the U.S. population, they account for a vastly disproportionate percentage of abortions. Since 1973, tens of millions of Black babies have been lost to abortion — a number that has dramatically reduced the Black population in America.

He expressed deep concern for young Black women of childbearing age, who continue to be heavily targeted by the abortion industry. Bruce stressed that every life matters and that the loss of these children represents an enormous loss to families, communities, and the nation.

A Call to Awareness…

Bruce closed by encouraging the audience to learn the full history. He reminded everyone that we are all flawed, but a person's legacy is defined by the fruit of their life's work. Margaret Sanger's legacy, he argued, has been devastating — especially for the very communities she claimed to help.

Debra Bloomfield thanked Bruce for his powerful presentation and encouraged attendees to purchase his book and continue the conversation. She noted the tragic irony that a group making up only about 13% of the population has suffered roughly 30–50% of the abortions performed in America, contributing to the shrinking of the Black community as a percentage of the overall population.

ITPLC-08: Helping Moms: Churches and Charities:

Transcript --- ITPLC-08-PastorDarinBurns-HelpingMomsChurchCharity-06m50stxt, cleaned-up a bit for book presentation capability, with the assistance of xAI/Grok…

This chapter was transcribed and edited for narrative flow by Grok (built by xAI).

Debra Bloomfield smiled as she introduced the next speaker. “Pastor Darin Burns from Lincoln Park, come on up. Pastor, what is your church doing to help moms? That’s awesome.”

Pastor Darin Burns stepped to the podium and began with honesty and warmth.

“I always start with two things,” he said. “First, a couple of statements, and then a story.”

The Reality Inside the Church…

Pastor Burns reminded the audience that 30 to 40 percent of men and women sitting in church on any given Sunday have been touched by abortion — including deacons, leaders, and pastors. Some have spoken about it, many have not. He encouraged the audience to approach every person with compassion, knowing that trauma may be present behind the smiles.“

A culture of life must include healing for those who have been wounded by abortion,” he emphasized.

A Defining Moment…

He shared a story from a few years earlier in Arizona. While walking across a college campus, he came upon a pro-life versus pro-choice protest. Curious, he approached both sides and asked questions.

“I asked the pro-choice group: If you are truly pro-choice, does that mean if a woman chooses life, you will support her and her baby? That is the real test of being pro-choice.”

Many in the group struggled to answer. One young woman followed him afterward, asking deeper questions. She had joined the protest simply because she followed the crowd. Pastor Burns pointed out how many people take strong positions without truly thinking them through — often because no one has spoken truth to them with love.

The Church's Long-Term Responsibility…

Pastor Burns stressed that supporting life is far more than protesting or throwing a baby shower. "When we say we want this baby to come to term, we are committing to 18-plus years of support. The church cannot be let off the hook."

He pointed to Scripture: the Church is called to care for widows (single mothers without support in the home), orphans, the elderly, and the disabled. He also encouraged stronger churches to partner with and support smaller urban and inner-city congregations that face these challenges daily.

"The church in Ephesus and Philippi supported the church in Jerusalem. We must do the same today."

Practical Programs in Action…

At his own church, Pastor Burns described several initiatives they have implemented:

- Supporting young people aging out of foster care (nearly 90% become homeless within 12 months).
- Embrace Grace — a program for young women facing unexpected pregnancies, walking with them through the decision and beyond.
- Embrace Life — continued support for young mothers after the baby is born.
- Legacy Leadership — a program for young fathers, holding them accountable and helping them become the men God calls them to be.
- The Image of God curriculum (through Stand for Life) — teaching children from a young age that every person is made in God's image and has inherent value.

He shared a practical example: when a young mother needed her car repaired to get to work, the church not only raised money for the repairs but also arranged transportation and handled all the logistics so she could keep her job.

“We’re not always asking for money,” he said. “Sometimes we just need people to show up, be present, and become extended family for these young women.”

A Call to Partnership…

Pastor Burns closed with a clear challenge: If your church is not actively involved in life-affirming ministry, find a church that is — especially in challenged communities — and partner with them. Volunteer, encourage the pastors, and show these young mothers that they have a much larger family in Christ.

“No pastor would spend 50 to 60 percent of their income just to keep the doors open unless they truly care. These inner-city pastors are fighting hard. They need our help.”

Debra Bloomfield thanked Pastor Burns warmly for his inspiring and practical message.

1. LIFE Journey, Through Stamps:

We have a UDMI-RTL area member that has been collecting USPS Stamps almost his entire lifetime. He had been wanting, hoping, to put together a Stamp display of LIFE related Stamps for decades now, but for various reasons that has not happened. So, we are happy to provide these thoughts (along the line of what he was hoping to get together as a Stamp display) in just words instead…

Pro-Life Themes on Postage Stamps: A 50+ Year Perspective. While the United States Postal Service (USPS) has never issued an official "Choose Life," "Right to Life," or explicitly anti-abortion commemorative stamp, pro-life values — the sanctity of human life, the dignity of the unborn, motherhood, and family — have appeared indirectly through stamps honoring children, mothers, faith-based heroes, and related themes over the past five decades. These issues reflect broader cultural conversations, even as direct pro-life advocacy stamps have remained absent despite petitions and campaigns.

The 1970s: Family Planning vs. Emerging Pro-Life Voices. In 1972, the USPS issued a stamp commemorating "Family Planning." This was seen by many in the pro-life movement as promoting population control and contraceptive policies aligned with organizations like Planned Parenthood. It came shortly before the 1973 Roe v. Wade decision and highlighted a growing cultural divide. No counterbalancing "Right to Life" stamp was issued, despite the rise of the modern pro-life movement in response to abortion legalization.

During this era, stamps more broadly celebrated motherhood and family indirectly through holiday and social issue issues, but explicit life-affirming imagery tied to the unborn was absent from official releases.

The 1980s–1990s: Children, Families, and Subtle Affirmations. The 1980s and 1990s featured stamps highlighting children and family life, which pro-life advocates often embraced as positive cultural signals:

- Kids Care! stamps (1995) — A set of four 32-cent stamps designed by children, promoting environmental care but also evoking the innocence and value of young life.

- Various "Love" and holiday stamps frequently depicted babies, families, and maternal imagery (e.g., Madonna and Child Christmas stamps).

These were not overtly political, but they reinforced themes of cherishing children that aligned with pro-life messaging during a period of intense national debate after Roe.

The 2000s–2010s: Honoring Pro-Life Icons. One of the clearest connections came in 2010 with the USPS issuance of a stamp honoring Mother Teresa. The beloved saint and Nobel Peace Prize winner was a vocal pro-life advocate who famously declared, "Abortion is profoundly anti-woman." Though the USPS announcement focused on her humanitarian work with the poor, pro-life communities celebrated the stamp as recognition of a heroic defender of unborn life.

Other stamps in this period included:

- Christmas issues featuring the Virgin and Child (Madonna and Infant Jesus), recurring across decades and symbolizing the sacredness of unborn and newborn life.
- Semipostal stamps (where extra postage funds causes), such as those for breast cancer research or saving species, showed the USPS's willingness to support causes — though none directly for pro-life pregnancy centers or similar efforts.

Petitions for a "Choose Life" stamp gained traction in the late 2010s (e.g., campaigns by groups like Women of Grace and CitizenGO), but none were approved.

womenofgrace.com

The 2020s: Continued Indirect Representation. Recent years have seen more stamps celebrating women, families, and faith:

- Virgin and Child Christmas stamps (ongoing series, including 2022 issues featuring historical artwork of Mary and the infant Jesus).
- Black Heritage and other series honoring figures whose lives intersected with pro-life themes, though not explicitly.

Pro-life advocates continue to note the irony: while stamps exist for many social causes, a direct affirmation of unborn life has not been issued. Private initiatives, custom stamps, or “Choose Life” specialty license plates in several states have filled some of that gap. Reflections Over 50+ Years. For more than five decades since Roe v. Wade, official U.S. postage stamps have largely avoided direct engagement with the abortion debate. Instead, pro-life supporters have found inspiration in stamps that celebrate:

- The beauty of children
- The vocation of motherhood
- Heroes like Mother Teresa who defended the vulnerable

These miniature works of art often serve as quiet cultural reminders of the inherent dignity of every human life — a message pro-life Americans continue to promote, even when not explicitly stated on the stamp itself.

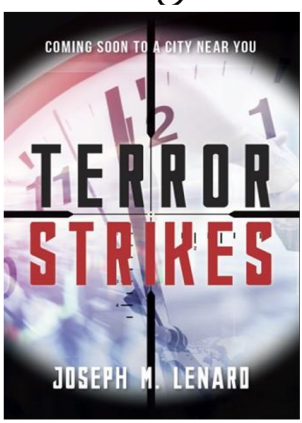
Terror Strikes: Coming Soon to a City Near You.

Historical Fiction (aka: FACTion, part fact part fiction)

Yes, about Terrorism, but not book about death and destruction but life and living.

Life, over Death. Hope, over Fear. Faith, over Evil. Individualism, over Collectivism. Freedom, over Tyranny. Family, and Friends. LIFE!

Family values matter – Choose Life!



This is NOT a book about death, but one about LIFE (and Living) and of those (foreign (through terror strikes) and domestic (killing unborn)) that would deprive others of that Life, Liberty, and Pursuit of Happiness.

From the book:
Abolitionists, overturned Slavery while some insisted Blacks weren't Human. Likewise, we will overturn Abortion, upholding the 14th Amendment, while some make the same false narrative today that babies are just a clump of cells in the womb and are not Human.

The Negro Project

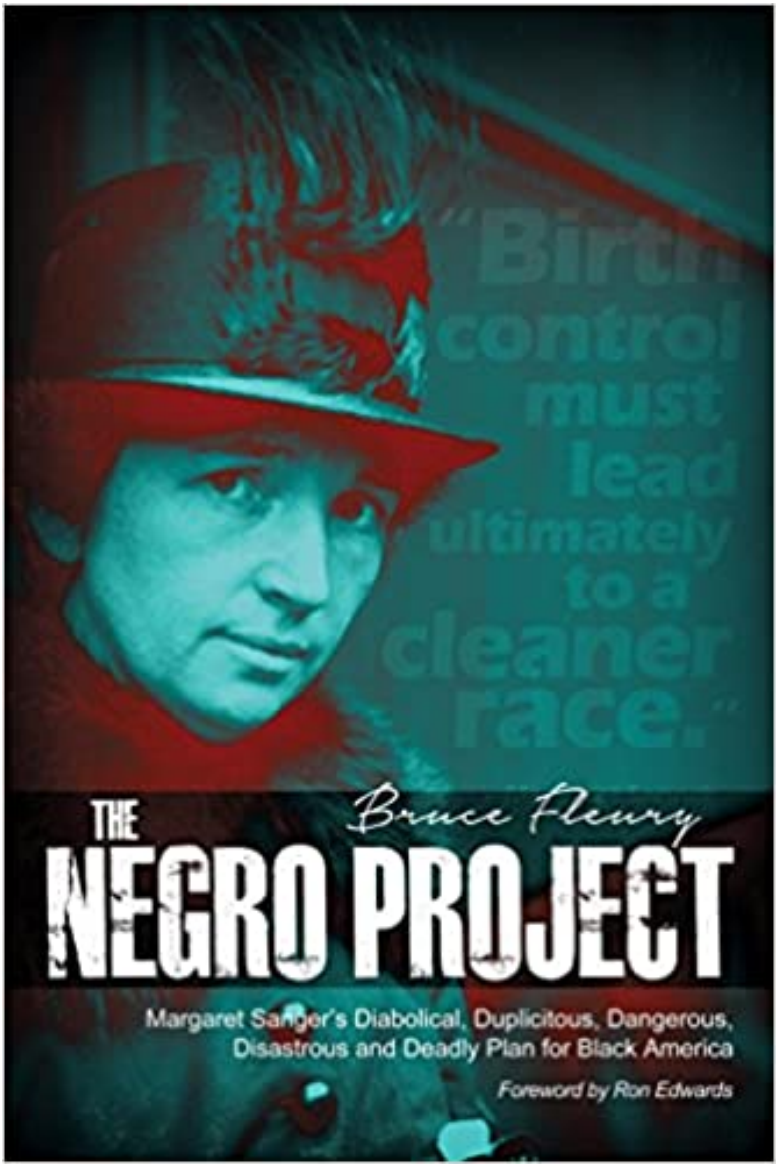
Bruce Fleury's "The Negro Project: Margaret Sanger's Diabolical, Duplicitous, Dangerous, Disastrous, and Deadly Plan for Black America" is an in-depth and engrossing cautionary tale written by the author to serve as a warning to all Americans not to forget their history, and perform their due diligence in order to be able to see the not-so-obvious objectives behind the deeds of others. This work surrounds the author's realization of the harm Margaret Sanger and others like her brought upon the black community in the name of "women's health" through her organization, Planned Parenthood.

He sees the black population as being in mortal danger of extinction if Americans don't wake up and fight the battle against abortion. Mr. Fleury raises some very compelling points in his exposé and has provided a great amount of research to support his findings. The reader will most certainly learn a historical lesson that was never taught in school.

About the Author

Bruce Fleury was born in Glen Ridge, New Jersey, and as a youngster moved to Detroit, Michigan, with his parents and five siblings, where he spent 56 years. Twenty of those years he was employed at Ford Motor Co. He currently resides with his wife, Janette, in Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.

Mr. Fleury likes to think of himself as a student of history and is strongly pro-life, the reason for his writing of this book. He is also keenly interested in politics, sports, and current events.



"Birth control must lead ultimately to a cleaner race."

Blogs: Abortionism: America's New Established State Religion

By Al Lemmo (from: https://cul.detmich.com/#lemmo)

Down load zipped text version with glossary (available as link in UDMI:WFL Project eBook version)

One of the most effective ploys concocted by abortion mongers has been to portray the issue as one of conflicting religious beliefs. Combined with a concurrent disinformation campaign to destroy public understanding of the purpose of the First Amendment, and an unfortunate tendency on the part of many pro-lifers to base their position on abortion solely on their religious beliefs, the religion ploy has enjoyed remarkable success.

It is my belief, however, that the tables could be turned by demonstrating that the philosophy undergirding abortion is the underlying philosophy of virtually every degradation that humanity has ever suffered. I propose to apply the term "Abortionism" to this philosophy and the cult "religion" that it supports to emphasize that all "abortions" - i.e., terminations of fundamental human rights - are basically justified by this same destructive philosophy. Large-scale aggressive application of terminology that reflects these truths could go a long way toward changing the common understanding of the abortion issue. Some examples of such terminology are employed in the remainder of this article and a much more detailed source of suggested usage is available in a companion glossary.

Abortionism is the world's oldest and most destructive cult. It's central dogma, unchanged through millennia, has held that the fundamental and inalienable rights to life, liberty, and property are not rights at all but conditional grants that may be terminated or aborted at any time on the basis of whatever criteria those who have the power to do the aborting choose to recognize. Any portion of the human community may be summarily excluded from recognition and even destroyed based on these criteria. The criteria may include race, color, creed, national origin, class, sex, abilities, and birth.

The Abortionite dogma is totally opposed to that of the originally established "religion" of America, which was an inclusive philosophy of unconditional and intrinsic human rights. The only criterion for inclusion was to be a living member of the human species, born or unborn. I choose to call this philosophy "Intrinsicism." The Abortionite dogma is then an extreme subset of a philosophy that can be called "Extrinsicism," or the belief that fundamental human rights derive from extrinsic human sources rather than being inherent with each individual.

The extremism of the Abortionite lies in his willingness to destroy (or abort) the fundamental human rights of those he has refused to grant recognition or personhood. Some may recognize these philosophies of Intrinsicism and Extrinsicism as similar to Natural Law and positivism, which will not be discussed here. The major difference is that this approach is not concerned with the origin of human rights, but only with the necessity of assuming that human rights are intrinsic to human life and the consequences of failing to do so.

The choice of criterion (or criteria) for exclusion of a class of people from the recognition and protection of the human community is what distinguishes the various sects and subsects of Abortionism from each other. It varies from one sect or subsect to the next, but there is also considerable overlap among the sects. Some of the more common sects of Abortionism, characterized by their exclusionary criteria, include the Racist sect which excludes people on the basis of ethnicity, the Sexist sect which does so on the basis of sex, the Classist sect on the basis of social or economic class, the Creedist sect on the basis of religious beliefs and the Functionalist or Utilitarianist sect which excludes people on the basis of limited utility or abilities. One of the most common and active Abortionite sects in America today is the Birthist sect, which excludes people on the basis of whether or not they have been born. They have much in common with the Utilitarianists and there is extensive joint membership.

Regardless of exclusionary criterion, the central dogma and guiding philosophy of Abortionism - that rights are granted to powerless people by powerful people rather than intrinsic with every individual - remains intact from one sect to the next. The reverence for power, especially the power to decide whose lives and liberties may be destroyed, has always been the common thread among all Abortionites. A Birthist Abortionite slogan neatly summarizes this point with the question "Who Decides?"

Under the principles of Abortionism, millions have had their lives, liberties, and property rights aborted. The Racist sect of Abortionism, which gained such popularity that it acquired political power in Germany earlier in this century, accomplished the abortion of millions on the basis of ethnicity. The Classist sect did the same in the Soviet Union, based on social class.

Likewise, Native Americans had their lives or property rights aborted on a large scale by the Racist sect in this country. Using Abortionism's tried and true evangelical techniques to devalue the lives of the target population in the minds of the converts (who would be expected to commit the actual abortions), black Africans had their liberties aborted on a large scale. Similarly, the Creedist sect aborted millions in many lands on the basis of religious beliefs. The Birthist sect has gained such popularity in America that it has succeeded in aborting the lives of several tens of millions of prenatal babies.

Only the Universalist Abortionites have historically failed to attract much of a following because they have not focused their hatred on the basis of any popular fear or envy, insisting upon their right to abort anyone's life for any reason. They have commonly been easily recognized as mere criminals or sociopaths.

It should be noted that hatred is not essential as a motivating factor for Abortionite exclusion. Black Africans, for example, were typically not hated by their Abortionite oppressors. The Abortionites simply engaged in self-serving rationalizations for denying their personhood in order to justify their enslavement. Likewise, prenatal babies are not generally hated by Birthist Abortionites (except the most extreme). It is simply regarded as ludicrous to accord them any status as members of the human community.

The chief sacrament of the various Abortionite sects has typically been some form of murder or enslavement - i.e., some form of abortion of a fundamental human right. The evangelical genius of Abortionites has been their amazingly creative capacity to make virtues of these practices. For example, the Racist sect successfully turned genocide into a final solution for a society's non-existent racial problems. In this country, it trumpeted states' rights as the higher principle to be preserved when its sacrament of slavery came into conflict with the principles of Intrinsicism, the original established religion in America. In more recent times, the American zeal for personal freedom of choice has been cleverly manipulated by the Birthist sect to make the poisoning or live dismemberment of prenatal babies a matter of choice when, in reality, it is nothing more than the ancient sacrament of living human sacrifice to the modern-day idols this nation has come to worship. These include money, power, sex, image, convenience, physical and mental perfection, and human intellect. Most of these are worshipped by the other Abortionite sects as well.

It should be noted that the high priests or priestesses of Abortionism often do not commit the sacraments themselves. These acts are commonly left to the converts who are frequently soft-core and seldom asked to disavow any other, more traditionally recognized religion they may profess. The high priesthood has historically found it useful not to impose such a requirement, in part so as not to expose the fact that Abortionism is a competing religion.

It has been far more effective to simply piggyback the Abortionite reverence for power and control onto the existing system of beliefs that predominate in a given culture. Furthermore, by remaining above the fray, the leadership can cultivate an altruistic image, fighting for the exclusionary privileges of their converts to deny inclusion of their target populations.

The Birthist sect in America has been particularly adept at this dogmatic symbiosis, mimicry of virtue, and cultural parasitism. It has deceived many into believing that Abortionite doctrine is consistent with Christianity, consistent with the original established religion in America (Intrinsicism), and even protected by the First Amendment guarantee of religious freedom. Incredibly, they have even succeeded in passing themselves off as the champions of original American dogma while undermining it at every turn in the promotion of their own. This has been accomplished by intense application of the quasi-Orwellian principle of Abortionthink, in which the victim's life is systematically devalued to the point of irrelevance.

Concerted use of Abortionspeak, a dialect of Orwell's Newspeak, the language of denial, confusion, and devaluation, has been critical to achieving the mass state of consciousness in which prenatal babies simply do not exist in the minds of the Birthist Abortionite converts. In this condition, they are perfectly prepared to administer the Abortionite sacrament.

Abortionthink is closely related to the Orwellian concept of doublethink, in which the practitioner is trained to hold two mutually contradictory ideas in mind at the same time and accept both of them. Thus, Abortionite converts have historically been able to participate in all manner of violence while still professing beliefs in traditional religions that abhor it.

The Birthist sect has raised this art to new heights, professing to believe in the traditional ethic of sanctity of life for the prenatal child while accepting its destruction for virtually any reason. They have no problem with viewing the child as either a separate patient for whom heroic medical efforts may be made by fetologists or as an object that may be disposed of at will. As one theologian put it, "in a successful manipulation of the mind, the person is no longer saying the opposite of what he thinks, but he thinks the opposite of what is true."

Abortionite converts who have reached this state of consciousness have achieved the ultimate spiritual development as members of the cult.

The totalitarian party in Orwell's "1984" had three slogans, which were exercises in doublethink that expressed key principles of Abortionism. These were: "War is peace," "Freedom is slavery," and "Ignorance is strength."

"War is peace" expresses the reverence for and sanctification of violence and the exercise of power to accomplish the goals of the particular Abortionite sect. These goals are typically regarded as so beneficial that working toward them would constitute peace, in spite of the work itself consisting of violent acts.

And in any case, the violence was directed against non-persons, the target populations who had been rationalized out of existence in the minds of the Abortionite converts through the process of Abortionthink. (It should also be noted that the totalitarian party in Orwell's "1984" regarded power as an end in itself rather than simply as a means to accomplish other goals. This is the essence of Abortionism.)

"Freedom is slavery" expresses contempt for genuine, individually responsible development and exercise of conscience that might bring to mind suppressed ethical principles that would likely be in conflict with the Abortionite principles, which are destructive to freedom and which the convert is expected and encouraged to place above all others. The freedom to modify one's behavior to follow the traditional ethical principles, such as reverence for life, even at some personal cost, is regarded as slavery to antiquated, sentimental, and oppressive ideas.

"Ignorance is strength" expresses contempt for the knowledge of opposing ethical principles and humanizing facts about the target populations of the particular Abortionite sect, which might lead a convert to backslide to some more traditional religion and reject Abortionism. Abortionite sects that practice the sacrament of war have often promoted hateful myths about foreigners to further their aims, and the Birthist sect is well known for its enthusiastic promotion of ignorance about life before birth to dehumanize its intended victims.

Orwell's Abortionites had one further slogan: "Who controls the past controls the future; who controls the present controls the past." Today's Abortionites are well aware of the truth expressed in this slogan and accordingly practice classical Orwellian reality control with great enthusiasm and diligence. They are busily devoting themselves to rewriting history to support the Abortionite version of the creation of society as we know it.

The Birthist sect is particularly devoted to this, expending much energy to undermine public understanding of the history of the laws that restricted prenatal human sacrifice as well as the history of the attitudes of society and of the predominant traditional religion in America, Christianity. Their work in this area included total fabrication of medical statistics and bore fruit with the publication of the satanic verses known as Roe v. Wade.

The principal objects of worship in Abortionism have been the idols noted earlier. Perhaps the most difficult of these to recognize historically has been human intellect. The true Abortionite has an unshakable faith in either his own intellect and powers of reason or those of some Abortionite theologian, holding those who do not share this faith in utter contempt, especially if they have placed their faith in something as intangible as God. The difficulty in recognizing this idol lies in the fact that it is worshipped to some degree by virtually everyone.

Abortionite sects have occasionally erected temples wherein to practice their sacraments. The Racist sect operated a number of temples in Europe some years ago, doing so with great secrecy, but the Birthist sect openly operates hundreds of temples in America and many other countries today.

The unholy scriptures of Abortionism are the writings of the prominent theologians of the various sects (Mein Kampf, The Communist Manifesto, Roe v. Wade, etc.). The theologians have often given lip service to the concepts of freedom and democracy but have usually meant the freedom of their Abortionite followers to democratically (among themselves) abort the freedoms of others.

The theologians themselves have often been held in such awe and esteem as to constitute demigods. They have often been spellbinding as public speakers and possessed of a remarkable fluency in Abortionspeak, mesmerizing people with clever phraseology and slogans which have often been transparently inane to anyone who stopped to think about them (e.g., "reproductive freedom" after reproduction has occurred or "a woman has a right to control her own body" when it is her prenatal child's body that is to be destroyed).

The leading theologians have never convened a joint council, and Abortionism has never issued a unifying document clearly stating its dogma. This is largely because the various sects have always lacked a common hierarchy, mainly because their common dogma easily justifies their aborting of each other at every opportunity. The repeated failures of humanity to recognize Abortionism and receive dispensation from its sacraments can be traced to the difficulty of identifying its destructive unifying philosophy. It is a stealth religion.

The closest humanity has come to exposing the common dogma of all the forms of Abortionism was in 1776 when the theologians of the American Reformation stated that they held as self-evident truths the beliefs that human beings are created equal and endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, first among which were the rights to life and liberty.

This has remained the foremost statement of Intrinsicist philosophy of all time. Their genius was in directing the allegiance of the people to the fundamental and inclusive principles of human rights, in which everyone had a vital interest, rather than to any ethnic, religious, political, socio-economic, or other exclusive affiliation. It became clear to the people that it was only by respecting and defending the fundamental principles of human rights for all that they could safeguard their own.

Although the American theologians successfully fashioned a philosophy opposed to Abortionism, which would guide the growth of an amazingly diverse nation for nearly two hundred years (ending in 1973 when Abortionism became the official established state religion through an act of judicial tyranny), they failed to clearly identify and thereby expose their true enemy. Democracy was not their primary goal.

They would have been content to remain subjects of the King of England if he had properly recognized their inalienable rights. Their theological descendants, who are now engaged in a bitter battle with the Birthist sect of Abortionism, have likewise largely failed to identify their true enemy and even their own premises.

The basic premise of today's pro-life Intrinsicists has been a simple but logical application of the inclusive premises of the nation, the dogma of the original established American religion (Intrinsicism), to life before birth.

However, because they typically professed a strong faith in God and Biblical principles and expressed their Intrinsicist philosophy in terms of the sanctity of life rather than fundamental principles of human rights, they allowed the Birthists to successfully appeal to the American ideal of freedom of religion, masquerade as its champions, and substitute the destructive dogma of Abortionism for the nation's inclusive founding dogma of intrinsic human rights.

The Birthist campaign was amply funded by the medi-whores of the prenatal vivisection and fetal processing industries and skillfully aided by necropimps in the national entertainment and information media, as well as in certain nominally Christian churches.

Birthist propaganda has consistently depicted their opponents as religious fanatics, among the most feared and disliked character types known to the American psyche. Saddled with this deliberately fabricated negative image, the true champions of American dogma have had enormous difficulty even getting many Americans to listen to their message.

True Abortionites instinctively gravitate toward the governmental, educational, and informational institutions of a society because it is from within these institutions that they can most quickly and effectively erode the resistance of a people to the Abortionite agenda. It is no accident that the Birthist sect is so heavily represented in these institutions in the United States today.

The use of wedge issues to obscure the common humanity of the targets and the converts of Abortionism, in order to exclude the former from the human community, has been a tried and true evangelical technique for the cult. The Racist sect has frequently used patriotism and economic issues such as unemployment for this purpose, whipping up hatred against minority groups.

In addition to freedom of religion, as noted above, the Birthists have very effectively used so-called hard cases (rape, extreme poverty, mother's health, etc.), using the emotional impact, immediacy, and visibility of these otherwise legitimate concerns (as well as the much greater ease of identifying with postnatal people in such situations) to divide the people from their prenatal brethren. Used in combination with Abortionthink and Abortionspeak, the synergistic effect has been overpowering, especially in the current cultural climate, which has seen millions grow up morally retarded and ethically dysfunctional.

Many have even absolved themselves of responsibility with the Pontius Pilate Posture: personally opposed to (but willing to assist in) private executions of the known innocent. The present cultural environment is so thoroughly polluted that it has been difficult for many to distinguish Abortionism's philosophical toxic waste from the surroundings.

Birthists often rationalize their violence through faulty analogies to killing in war or by capital punishment. They point to the killing of the culpable as the moral equivalent of the killing of the innocent and clumsily attempt to justify these deaths rather than hold those who have conceived children under undesirable circumstances responsible for their own actions. This kind of dysfunctional sense of responsibility is a hallmark of Abortionites ("I was just following orders").

Historically, one Abortionite sect often paves the way for the others by targeting the weakest members of a society whose exclusion and destruction may seem rational and even compassionate. For example, the Utilitarianist sect led the way in Germany by targeting the handicapped, making it much easier for the Racists to advance their agenda later. The Birthists have led the way in America such that the Utilitarianists are now making rapid progress in relieving the burdens of their lives.

The first objective of any Abortionite campaign has been to breach the wall of separation between freedom and oppression (or civilization and barbarianism), which is the philosophical foundation of a free or civilized society. This wall is the philosophy of Intrinsicism. Once the wall is breached by compromising the integrity of the philosophy that protects life and liberty, all the criteria of the various Abortionite sects then compete on an equal basis because they are justified in principle.

Abortionism is humanity's original false religion. Its historical success is due to a natural tendency in each of us to embrace its enticing dogma. An ancient story even describes how the world's first two Abortionites attempted to abort the rights of their Creator with disastrous results for all generations thereafter. Eternal vigilance is the price of keeping Abortionism in check, yet it has such an amazing capacity to evade detection, mutate, and adapt itself to any culture that it has continued to plague humanity, even infecting a society as dedicated to human rights as our own in epidemic proportions.

ANALYSIS
Abortion - the Profit Motive Side
Article by Joseph M. Lenard
Think, for yourself about the WHOLE and broader picture of things –
In this case Murdering Babies ...
THE LIBERTY BEACON

Brief, Quick, to the Points – wanting you to ponder beyond that!! Think for yourself about the WHOLE and overall broader picture of things – in this case, the Murdering of Babies. While the Left promotes Murdering our own Children, out the other side of their Mouths say we need an open-borders flood to deal with, help with "Growth!" It is, of course, all their BS duplicity, all about undermining and destruction of the USA from within. The Left, just like they want to steal and spend YOUR MONEY, want others to kill their Children, but they do not want to do so, and the like! Do as they say, not as they do – they want you to focus on their empty rhetoric and ignore their Actions (and related TheLibertyBeacon: "Micro v Macro").

Putting aside the whole M. Sanger PLANNED SLAUGHTERHOOD created by her to mainly kill off "The Human Weeds" (see Bruce Fleury's Sanger's "The Negro Project" presentation at udmi-rtl.org "Intro. to Pro-Life Culture" Videos NEWS page/tab) as she referred to Blacks (mostly, but some others too). Still, today, it kills more Black Children proportionally for the percentage/composition of our Society.... WHAT ABOUT THE ECONOMICS AND PROFIT of it all now?!?!?

From an email I just sent (with some enhancements / expounding hereinafter) in reply to "Gary" (Friend of mine, as is Bruce Fleury's book outlined in the image above) of TheDailyDrift.com thread back and forth about getting him on my ChristiTutionalist ™ Politics show....

"Didn't think to say this on “Abolitionist RoundTable” WAAM Show discussion - maybe you can interject at some point: It is all CHILD TRAFFICKING - whether someone Profiting Trafficking Children for Sex or Left Trafficking Kids to SLAUGHTER for their PROFIT."

Gives people a new REALIZATION of how/why it continues - something others never think of (as I hadn't, til just now). PP gets money from the Left and SELLING OFF BODY PARTS OF KIDS THEY MURDER, they launder some back to their campaigns, THEY PROFIT.

A profundity many will just refuse to contemplate (refuse to think about, too icky, many just REFUSE to deal with THE BABY KILLING ISSUE, and of course why Left uses "Choice" and "Reproductive Rights" dodges) - and one I wish I had thought of back when to been able to have included it in Terror Strikes book portions talking about Abortion issue therein.

[image source: Joseph M Lenard via memecrunch.com]

Also, you see all the LYING Political Ads of/from Left leading into #Election2024?!? All FEAR-PORN, all SPIN and attempts at manipulation of weaker Minds refuse to Study anything for selves - and SCARE them into Preserving Abortion (on Demand, all times, any place, when 99% of Abortions are about/for convenience and Pregnancy avoided by/with Multiple kinds of Contraception preventions and/or prevention of that Child starting form in Womb, as less than 1% are for "Life, Rape, Incest" reasons). The left must always lie; they cannot get anyone to buy what they peddle if they are honest about any/all Topics.

I could have died, or I would have died, all LIES. Even before Roe v. Wade, the proper Medical Procedure for a Pregnant Woman in distress at a hospital, if any real reason why the Woman and Child need to be separated to "Save the Life" of the mother, was to perform an emergency C-Section and THEN TREAT BOTH PATIENTS.

The Left never talks about how many Women DIE due to the dangers of Abortion procedures (and especially now, the dangers, side-effects, of the Abortion Pill that claimed the life of a Woman Left now trying to blame it on "Anti-Abortion Laws" rather than the known deaths caused by complications and distress to the mother by the abortion pill). Further, this isn't the 1970s, and our Modern Medicine Procedures and Equipment assure an Emergency C-Section is far less invasive and harmful than Abortion damage to the mother, as well as advances that now Children BIRTHED (by CS or other) can/do survive at earlier and earlier Terms.

As former Surgeon General (C. Everett Koop) says "Zero reason for an Abortion to supposedly 'Save Life of Mother'" or any other reason as well as continuing remind The Left lies about "Safe, Legal, Rare" as Abortions are NOT SAFE many Women die from them and Left try hide those stats and certainly NOT RARE and performed less than 1% of the time for "Life, Rape, Incest" but instead CONVENIENCE in day/age where so many forms of Birth Control to prevent REPRODUCTION (NOT Reproductive Rights then at that point, as Reproduction has already happened). If no Baby is created in the womb, no reason for Abortion - but, Left, now, all about the Money-Laundering and PROFITS of Abortion on Demand, Any Time, Any Reason - as always: FOLLOW THE MONEY.

As I said during DNC Convention recaps on MAVERICK NEWS and SAVAGED UNFILTERED Shows - The Hispanic Woman on-stage with her Child and Husband made a pro-life point. She too claimed told SHE COULD DIE if not Murdering her baby, and yet she did NOT go to where she could get an Abortion. There she was/is, LIVING PROOF, modern Medicine (IF we can keep The Left from destroying our best Medical Care System in the World) saved Her AND HER BABY despite the Lies told her and the Lies She was on-stage repeating. And if she still does not want that Child, she could, of course, put it up for Adoption!

Blogs: Glossary Of Terms Essential To Understanding The Abortion Controversy

By Al Lemmo (from: https://cul.detmich.com/#lemmo)
Version 1.5, Dearborn, Michigan, November, 1997
[with some 2026 updates by Joseph M. Lenard recognizing the decades of new Court Cases and Terminology changes in the now almost full 3 decades since Al Lemmo first produced the piece, additions denoted by bracketing and italicizing.]

This glossary has been compiled to aid all pro-life Americans in their struggle against the alien and destructive philosophy that has gripped our land in the guise of enhancing freedom. It includes a variety of new terms and some humor, but its purpose is extremely serious. It is an effort to equip the pro-life side with new understanding and tools to change the terms of the debate. [See too: https://www.thelibertybeacon.com/leftists-the-7-ds/.]

Particular attention should be directed toward the concept of Abortionism and terms: sadistician, necrochoicer, necropimping, mediwhore, depravigentsia, Birthist, Sentiencist, babyectomy, gravida, Intrinsicism and Extrinsicism, abortionthink, Roman Pontius Pilate Posture, Abortionite Klansmen, medicide, abortion rituals, Abortionspeak, necronym, Slaveraid, irreversibility, and intra-uterine viability.

Efforts have been made to demonstrate the links between prenatal child killing and other historic violations of human rights, as well as with such political and ethical subjects as Orwellian totalitarianism and political correctness.

It is hoped that widespread use of the terminology set forth herein will help expose the true nature of the underlying philosophy of prenatal child killing, put the hard-core necrochoicers on the defensive, and demoralize or even win over their soft-core allies. The emphasis is on the foundation philosophy of human rights (called "Intrinsicism"), which this author believes has universal appeal and will therefore be far more effective than any approach based on religion or the sanctity of life. A companion article on Abortionism is available and recommended for a more detailed discussion.

ABLE-IST:

An individual who believes in aborting the rights of others, sometimes to the point of justifying their destruction, on the basis of their abilities or handicaps. A member of the Utilitarianist sect of Abortionism. See also UTILITARIANIST, FUNCTIONALIST [and see too ITPLC-07 Margaret

Sanger chapter/section.].

ABORTION:

A euphemism used to describe the poisoning or live dismemberment of prenatal children without the benefit of anesthesia. Frequently used in this glossary to include any abrogation of human rights under the philosophy of Abortionism. In this context, it is a sacrament of the cult of Abortionism.

ABORTION CLINIC (or KLINIK):

A temple of the Birthist sect of the Abortionite cult wherein their sacrament of prenatal human sacrifice is practiced.

ABORTIONISM:

[Despite the U. S. Constitution's Fourteenth (14^{th}) Amendment protections and other founding documents declaring Rights (including to life) inalienable and from God, not humankind nor governments] the world's oldest and most destructive idolatrous cult, whose central dogma holds that human rights are conditionally granted or denied to powerless people by powerful people based on whatever criteria the powerful choose to recognize. Those who do not meet the Abortionite criteria for inclusion may have their rights summarily aborted through Abortionite sacraments (crimes) at any time. The criteria, which define the various sects of the cult (Racist, Sexist, Birthist, Creedist, Classist, Utilitarianist, etc.), may include ethnicity, sex, birth, religion, social or economic class, and abilities. The term "Abortionism" also refers to the underlying philosophy of the cult.

ABORTIONIST:

An unethical physician who has chosen to abandon the ethical norms of the medical profession [and The Hippocratic Oath to "do no harm"] and prostitute his or her medical skills to destroy prenatal human life.

ABORTIONITE:

Of or pertaining to the cult of Abortionism. Also, a member of any sect of the cult of Abortionism.

ABORTIONITE BLIND SPOT

The defect in the conscience of Abortionites resulting from the practice of abortionthink such that the target population of the particular Abortionite sect has ceased to exist in the Abortionite's mind as human persons. It is for this reason that Abortionites just don't get it when it comes to understanding opposition to their sacraments (crimes).

ABORTIONITE CLIFF (SLIPPERY SLOPE):

A metaphorical ethical precipice over which a society will plummet when it abandons the high moral plateau in which all human life is protected unconditionally. Often more generously described as a slippery slope. American society has been in free fall over this precipice since Roe v. Wade. [See also related: http://tinyurl.com/roevwadeexamined.]

ABORTIONITE KLANSMAN:

Abortionites, especially those of the Birthist sect, will continue to practice their sacraments even after they have been outlawed, because they have been taught by experience that they have a right to do so. The Ku Klux Klan is the best-known example, although they are members of a Racist sect. Similarly, Birthist Abortionites have made plans to continue their sacrament of prenatal child-killing underground should the protection of law be restored to prenatal children.

ABORTIONITE SACRAMENT:

The abortion of a fundamental human right by a member of the cult of Abortionism when committed against a member of a target population peculiar to his or her sect. Commonly understood among non-Abortionites to be a crime.[Related: God's "Thou Shalt Not Murder Innocents" Commandment (from original Aramaic, Greek, Hebrew, and Latin, forms) and generally previously recognized rule in law: https://www.thelibertybeacon.com/god-and-guns-redux/.]

[Image source: TheLibertyBeacon]

ABORTIONITE SECT:

One of the subdivisions of the cult of Abortionism, which can be identified by the criteria by which it targets human populations for exclusion from the human community and ultimately for the abortion of their fundamental human rights. The major Abortionite sects include Racist, Sexist, Birthist, Classist, Creedist, and Utilitarianist. There is much overlap among them, the most highly developed Abortionites being convinced that exclusion should apply to anyone not like themselves. [See related "ITPLC-07: Margaret Sanger's 'The Negro Project'" sub-section of the ITPLC chapter.]

ABORTIONITE SYNDROME:

The full range of characteristics common to practicing Abortionites, including mastery of abortionthink, fluency in Abortionspeak, and possession of a fully developed Abortionite blind spot. Individuals who possess these skills are capable of looking at piles of bodies, whether prenatal children or death camp victims stacked in ovens, and not see human beings.

ABORTIONITE SYNOD:

A hypothetical conference of representatives of all Abortionite sects, which could never actually be held due to their proclivity for aborting each other.

ABORTIONITE TEMPLE:

A facility in which Abortionite sacraments and other forms of Abortionite worship and religious formation are practiced. A number of temples were operated secretly in Europe by the Racist sect in the 1930s and 1940s but the Birthist sect openly operates many temples in many countries today. See also ABORTUARY.

ABORTIONMONGER:

An Abortionite, especially one of the Birthist sect, for whom the lives of prenatal children or other target populations have no significance at all. One who enthusiastically promotes abortion as a positive solution for a multitude of problems.

ABORTION RIGHTS:

An oxymoron used by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like to describe and defend a state of anarchy with respect to protecting the lives of prenatal children and abuses of freedom that destroy human lives both prenatally and postnatally. See also CHILD KILLING PRIVILEGES.

ABORTION RITES:

Actions surrounding the sacrifice of prenatal children or other target populations to Abortionite idols, to include any pre-mortem examinations, are usually conducted in an Abortionite temple by the Birthist sect. Suggested usage in preference to the oxymoron "abortion rights."

ABORTION RITUALS:

A suggested term to substitute for "abortion rites," especially in oral communication, to avoid any confusion with the oxymoron "abortion rights." Its description of prenatal child-killing as human sacrifice to the idols our nation has come to worship should be emphasized. See also ABORTION RITES.

ABORTIONSPEAK:

A dialect of Orwell's Newspeak used by Abortionites to deny the realities of their sacraments (murder, slavery, etc.) and thereby enable doublethink. Used extensively in present-day America by the Birthist sect to confuse the unconverted population and thereby confound effective action against their sacrament of child-killing. Very effective for necropimping.

ABORTIONTHINK:

Doublethink with respect to the value of life, holding in the case of the Birthist sect of Abortionism that prenatal life is both inviolable under the ethic of sanctity of life and also disposable at any time for any reason. Also, the rationalizing process of devaluing the life of another sufficiently to justify destroying that life with little or no remorse, based on any of the Abortionite criteria, which define the various sects.

ABORTOMANIA:

A form of insanity characterized by great excitement and enthusiasm for abortion. Common among abortionmongers and other Abortionites, especially those of the Birthist sect, after the process of abortionthink has run its full course.

ABORTOPHILIA:

Love of abortion. A warm, even passionate emotional attachment to abortion, especially as practiced by the Birthist sect, when it is seen as a wonderful, life-enhancing, and essential option in life. Characteristic of abortionmongers and other Birthist Abortionites.

ABORTUARY:

A facility in which prenatal human sacrifice is practiced. A temple of the Birthist sect of Abortionism wherein this sacrament takes place. See also ABORTIONITE TEMPLE.

ACLU:

The foremost missionary organization of Abortionism and related cults, such as Evangelical Paganism. Variously known as Atheists, Communists, and Liars Unscrupulous; Anti-Christian Litigation Union and Abortionite Confraternity of Litigious Ultra-Leftists. An organization devoted to destroying the moral foundations of American society by eradicating the influence of religion from public life.

AMNIOCENTESIS:

A medical procedure used to diagnose problems in prenatal children by analyzing material sampled from the amniotic fluid. Advocated as part of a search and destroy policy by eugenicists and other necrochoicers.

ANIMALIST:

An individual who believes that many, if not all, animal species have an equal claim to the recognition and protection of human society. Curiously, Animalists are frequently Birthist Abortionites who recognize few or no such claims for prenatal human children. This is due to their primary Abortionite affiliation with the Sentiencist sect. See also SENTIENCIST.

ANTI-ABORTION:

A negative label adopted by the necromedia to refer to pro-lifers, sometimes even applied in coverage of euthanasia to promote the desired negative image of pro-lifers as busybodies and meddlers in private matters. Contrast with the necromedia's use of necrochoicers' preferred euphemisms for themselves.

ANTI-CHOICE:

The preferred descriptor of Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like for pro-lifers and others who oppose the administering of Abortionite sacraments. Its foolishness makes perfect sense to persons with fully developed Abortionite blind spots who are incapable of understanding that the only thing that makes any Abortionite sacrament unacceptable is the nature of the choice.

ASSISTED SUICIDE:

The choice to self-abort one's life with help from one or more other persons. Popular with Functionalist Abortionites for putting the sick out of our misery when they cannot manage it alone. See also MEDICIDE.

BABYECTOMY:

The surgical removal of a baby from a woman's body, usually in many pieces, in order to kill it. A suggested alternative to the euphemism "abortion."

BACK ALLEY:

A piece of clever imagery concocted by abortionmongers to insinuate that any prenatal child-killing conducted outside the law is necessarily unsanitary and a much greater hazard to the health of the mother than child-killing conducted under the present state of anarchy. Widely used by necropimps.

BARABBAS:

A Biblical character who was guilty of serious crimes but was released in preference to a man known to be innocent when the responsible public official, claiming to be personally opposed, staged an act of democratic theatre, knowing that the mob's choice would be to his own political advantage. Today, mobs still scream for the release of the culpable and the deaths of the innocent and public officials still wash their hands.

BIG LIE:

A technique for making lies become truth in the public mind by having the lies constantly repeated, preferably from a multiplicity of sources, giving an overwhelming impression of their truthfulness. Perfected by a Racist Abortionite in Germany, it is lavishly used today by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and necropimps.

BEDROOM POLICE:

A piece of clever imagery concocted by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers to insinuate that restrictions on prenatal child-killing would mean government intrusion into the most private and personal aspects of people's lives. It proved extremely effective despite being patently ludicrous.

BIOETHICS:

A relatively new branch of ethics that deals with the issues created by modern biological science, especially in the areas of reproduction and life support. Heavily infiltrated by Birthists and other Abortionites, it has virtually become the black art of rationalizing the unconscionable, sometimes even dispensing with all pretenses for formulating any rationale.

BIO-IGNORANCE:

A form of cultivated ignorance used by Birthist Abortionites in attempts to twist scientific facts to fit their grotesque agenda. Usually characterized by the use of observable, scientific phenomena such as birth and the functional capabilities of the prenatal child as philosophical criteria for the definition of biological life in place of the true biological criteria.

BIOLOGY BASED DEFENSE:.

A non-violent means of dealing with a pregnancy that occurs under undesirable circumstances. The prenatal child is permitted to continue living throughout the limited period of the pregnancy, and appropriate arrangements are made for its care after the natural terminating event of birth. See also CIVILIAN BASED DEFENSE.

BIRTH:

The process or event occurring approximately nine months after the beginning of each individual human life, in which the child changes habitat or environment from intra-uterine to terrestrial, having acquired the necessary adaptations to survive in this next phase of the human life cycle.

BIRTH CONTROL:

A term commonly used to mean contraception, that is, the prevention of conception, although some methods act by producing early term abortions of the lives of prenatal children. Prenatal child-killing is actually the only form of birth control other than Caesarean delivery because that's what it controls, not conception.

BIRTHIST:

A member of the Birthist sect of Abortionism who believes in aborting the rights of others on the basis of whether or not they have been born, often to the point of justifying their deliberate destruction. Of or pertaining to the Birthist sect.

BLOB:

A term popular among Birthist Abortionites and abortionmongers to describe prenatal children and thereby dehumanize them in the minds of potential Abortionite converts to facilitate their destruction.

BRAIN-DEAD:

Possessed by beliefs that individual human lives begin at some other time than conception, or that the question is a religious one, or that such subjective, ill-defined, and self-serving criteria as self-awareness, viability, or appearance have anything to do with the question. Also used to describe the cessation of brain waves to imply that brain function has ceased, and the individual can therefore legally be declared dead because the brain has no capacity for revival with current medical technology, i.e., brain wave loss is irreversible. It does not follow that the onset of embryonic brain waves, some six weeks after conception, marks the beginning of life because brain waves will be irreversibly present (about six weeks later) once conception has occurred. Conception marks the beginning of irreversible life for an individual. See also IRREVERSIBILITY.

BRAIN SUCTION ABORTION:

See DILATATION AND EXTRACTION.

BRAINWASHING:

A method of religious training among Abortionite sects, popular for its effectiveness, especially when the culture at large is supportive.

BREATHING:

A popular criterion among the bio-ignorant for the existence of a new individual human life, often held up as gospel truth (it actually has some Biblical basis) despite its biological insignificance.

[C. EVERETT KOOP :

As former Surgeon General famously stated: "Zero reason for an Abortion to supposedly 'Save Life of Mother'!" More – see: Blogs: Abortion: The Profit Motive Side sub-section of Online Aritlces / Blogs (alphabetic) chapter.]

CHILD KILLING PRIVILEGES:

A suggested, accurate alternative to the oxymoron "abortion rights." See also ABORTION RITES.

CHILD MURDER:

A term used by the original, pro-life, nineteenth-century feminists to describe what is commonly called abortion today.

CHOICE:

The most popular mantra of Abortionites, especially the Birthist sect. Used as a euphemism and necronym for the Abortionite sacraments. [Right-To-Life of Michigan has engaged starting in 2025 to introduce the concept of "LIFE: THE OTHER CHOICE" sloganeering to bring awareness to the oft-used dodge word of "choice" for murdering a child and harkens back to George Michael of Wham and his often wearing of "CHOOSE LIFE" shirts as famously preserved for review in their Wake Me Up music video.]

CITIZEN:

A person who has been born and has thereby acquired certain rights accorded on the basis of national identity. In the United States, citizenship is conferred under the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution to those who have been born or naturalized. Many categories of non-citizens are also persons who have basic human rights regardless of national identity (permanent residents, illegal aliens, etc.).

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE:

A doctrine of social activism that requires disobedience to unjust laws. Usually held up as heroic and laudable among the politically correct, except when practiced by pro-lifers to save human children instead of whales, owls, and trees. Such actions by pro-lifers are known as rescues and are not true civil disobedience since no unjust laws are broken. The just laws that protected prenatal human life were destroyed by Roe v. Wade, leaving only a state of anarchy. See also RESCUE and CIVIL OBEDIENCE.

CIVILIAN BASED DEFENSE:

A pacifistic theory for national defense against military aggression which calls for non-violent non-cooperation with the aggressor in spite of the possibility and even likelihood of severe losses. CBD calls for the nation so raped to endure the unwanted child of the rapist nation, its occupation army, indefinitely until it is withdrawn in exasperation. The objective is to avoid the even greater violence of war. See BIOLOGY BASED DEFENSE.

CIVIL OBEDIENCE:

Obedience to the basic laws of civilization requires human societies to recognize and protect all human beings.

[CLASSISM:

The making or perceiving of differences and distinctions, usually to evaluate choices. Illegal when conducted in accordance with generally discredited Abortionite criteria, it remains legal when practiced on the basis of physical maturity by the Birthist sect of Abortionism. See also CLASSIST and DISCRIMINATION.]

CLASSIST:

A member of the Classist sect of Abortionism who believes in aborting the rights of others on the basis of social or economic class, sometimes to the point of justifying their deliberate destruction. Communists are a typical example.

[CLUMP OF CELLS:

A term used by the mother or others to describe an unwanted prenatal child, especially if the mother was an unwilling participant in its conception. One of many indicators that abortionthink is in progress. The child, as always, is just as much hers as his, regardless of the father's social standing. See also MY BABY, ABORTIONTHINK, FETUS, BLOB, PRODUCTS OF CONCEPTION, etc.]

COAT HANGER:

A piece of clever imagery concocted by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers to promote the Big Lie that illegal instances of prenatal child-killing were conducted by crude means that were always dangerous to women.

COERCION:

The application of intimidation or other forcible means to assure that certain choices are made. Nearly always employed by Abortionites to compel others to make the destructive choices sought by the Abortionites.

COLLATERAL DAMAGE:

A military term meaning incidental or unintended harm to persons or property in close proximity to a legitimate military target. The rationalization of prenatal child-killing on the basis of so-called hard cases results in rates of collateral damage in excess of 97%, rates that would be morally horrendous if produced by the military.

COMMENSALISM:

A biological relationship in which one organism (animal or plant) lives with, on, or in another without injury to either. Adamantly denied by bio-ignoramuses in order to maintain their ludicrous belief that "dependence" has anything to do with the scientific definition of biological life. See also DENIAL.

COMMIT ABORTION:

A suggested, more appropriate phrase to use in place of the morally bland "perform abortion." See also PRENATICIDE.

COMPULSORY PREGNANCY:

A clever semantic device concocted by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like to insinuate that part of the pro-life agenda is that all women must become pregnant at some time in their lives or even as often as possible. The pro-life agenda only requires that an established pregnancy be completed as a matter of preservation of existing life, parental responsibility, and similar ethical principles.

CONCEPTION:

The union of sperm and egg cells results in a zygote or fertilized egg. Identical to the term "fertilization." Deliberately and inaccurately "redefined" by the American Medical Association to mean the implantation of the zygote in the uterine wall several days after fertilization in order to loosen moral strictures against actions that might damage or destroy human zygotes and embryos.

CONCEPTUS:

A term invented by Birthist Abortionites and abortionmongers to dehumanize the prenatal child in the minds of potential converts.

CONFUSION:

A principal means of promoting the Birthist Abortionite agenda by sloppy use of terminology and failure to distinguish biological, ethical, legal, moral, religious, and other concepts, such that persons exposed to the gibberish become exasperated and unwilling or unable to oppose the Abortionite campaign.

CONSERVATISM:

A political philosophy characterized by trust in individual initiative, tradition, experience, and time-tested institutions rather than human ingenuity for reshaping the world for the better from the top down. Conducive to spiritual degeneration when practiced apart from ethical systems that require attention to social responsibilities.

CONTRACEPTION:

The prevention of conception by keeping the sperm and egg cells from meeting and fusing.

COOPERATIVE GENOCIDE:

The support for and practice of prenatal child-killing by persons who are members of ethnic groups that are themselves the targets of Racist Abortionites. These ethnic groups usually experience disproportionately higher rates of prenatal child-killing due to the synergistic effect of targeting by both Racist Abortionites from without and Birthist Abortionites from within.

COST/BENEFIT PARALYSIS:

A decision-making process that myopically excludes consideration of factors that cannot be measured in dollars and cents, thereby resulting in extremely serious damage to ethical systems. It can be easily manipulated, as proven repeatedly by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers.

CREEDIST:

An individual who believes in aborting the rights of others, sometimes to the point of justifying their total destruction, on the basis of their religious beliefs. A member of the Creedist sect of the cult of Abortionism. Of or pertaining to the Creedist sect.

CRIME:

A choice regarded by society as so unacceptable and destructive as to be punishable by law if exercised. [sometimes rooted in faith/religion, while other times subjectively applied by creedists based on clan/tribal aims/goals furtherment rather than seeking true justice – all to acquire and/or retain control/power over others.]

[CRISIS PREGNANCY CENTER:

A place where staff provides mental and physical support for women in need of assistance during time of a Pregnancy or true "Planning of/for Parenthood" that puts to the lie that pro-lifers offer no support for women. Also goes for countless adoption centers that provide services, as well as the "Pregnancy Centers" post birth, despite Abortionite Birthists claims pro-lifers care nothing once a child is born. See also, https://udmi-rtl.org.]

CULTIVATED IGNORANCE:

Ignorance with an agenda. A lack of knowledge due not so much to a failure to learn as to a determined refusal to accept certain knowledge because to do so would undermine cherished political or philosophical beliefs. The condition is common among Birthists and other Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers. See also BIO-IGNORANCE.

CULTURE ASSASSINS:

Abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, necrochoicers, necropimps, and the like who engage in systematic assaults upon the legal, moral, ethical, philosophical, and other foundations of American society in their quest to destroy the roots of opposition to prenatal child-killing. Also descriptive of Evangelical Pagans and others with similar agendas.

DEATHSCORT:

An individual who attempts to maintain women seeking to receive the sacrament of prenatal human sacrifice at a Birthist temple in a state of ignorance, such that the women will proceed with the sacrament in spite of the efforts of others attempting to provide information that might cause them to make a life-sustaining choice. Usually prattling some Birthist mantra such as "choice" while at work, the deathscort is an ultra-hypocrite [having already been born].

DEATH SQUAD:

The pastoral staff of a Birthist Abortionite temple. Also, any other group of individuals engaged in administering the sacraments of Abortionite sects.

DENIAL:

A principal means of promoting the Birthist Abortionite agenda is simply refusing to acknowledge the very nature of its objectives. [Especially the denial of injuries or potential death statistics harm to the would be mother, and even more-so now the harmful, sometimes deadly, side-effects of abortion drugs.] Used very effectively in concert with confusion to promote a variety of Big Lies.

DEPENDENCE:

A cherished criterion for the existence of life among the bio-ignorant who steadfastly refuse to acknowledge the reality of commensalism, symbiosis and parasitism as biological relationships in which unique organisms depend upon organisms of other species. See also CULTIVATED IGNORANCE.

DEPRAVIGENTSIA:

A cultural elite devoted to the Orwellian practice of reality control with the objective of removing all social restraints on perverse and immoral practices. The deprived are concentrated in Hollywood, New York, and academia.

DEPRAVIRRHAGIA:

The outbreak of widespread depravity in a society when its moral foundations have been severely damaged.

DEPROGRAMMING:

The process of undoing the mental training of cult members. For Abortionites, this would include healing the Abortionite blind spot to develop a mature conscience, nurturing an inclusive ethical system, abandoning abortionthink and Abortionspeak, and educating the individual about the humanity of the target populations of his or her sect.

DEVELOPMENTAL APARTHEID:

The exclusion of any portion of the human population from social recognition and protection based on their less developed abilities. Applicable both prenatally and postnatally. [See ITPCL Margaret Sanger sub-section and/or the Bruce Fleury "The Negro Project" book.]

DIFFERENTIATION:

The process by which cells become specialized into the various tissues of the body. Usually, it is detectable within the first few cell divisions after fertilization, as cells of the early embryo lose the ability to generate a complete adult organism when separated from one another. [Often referred to as the further/broader "miracle of life" beyond what is understood and/or known by worldly biologists/scientists, as well as often referred to as the "domain of God" and well above/beyond human comprehension as to the "smart-cell" abilities/capabilities.]

DILATATION AND CURETTAGE (D & C):

A technique for early term prenatal child-killing which involves dilating the cervix and inserting an instrument to scrape the uterine wall to destroy and remove the prenatal child and its supporting organs.

DILATATION AND EVACUATION (D & E):

A technique for late-term prenatal child-killing, which involves dilating the cervix and inserting instruments to pull apart and remove the prenatal child and its supporting organs.

DILATATION AND EXTRACTION (D & X):

A technique for late-term prenatal child-killing which involves pulling all but the child's head through the cervix so that the child is not yet technically born, puncturing the base of the skull with a pair of scissors, evacuating the brain with a catheter so that the skull can be collapsed, and removing the dead baby from the mother's body. This causes minimal damage to the child's body to facilitate harvesting of its organs.

DIPLOID:

Having the full number of chromosomes in the cell, the chromosomes existing in pairs. See also GAMETE.

DISAPPEARED:

A term from human rights activism that refers to persons who suddenly and permanently drop out of sight in societies prone to human rights abuses. The United States currently has some 35,000,000 children [note that, as of original 1997 writing, today WGEID (Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary Disappearances) cases are estimated to exist, unknown] who are disappeared - and counting.

DISCRIMINATION:

The making or perceiving of differences and distinctions, usually to evaluate choices. Illegal when conducted in accordance with generally discredited

Abortionite criteria, it remains legal when practiced on the basis of physical maturity by the Birthist sect of Abortionism. See also REFORMED ABORTIONISM and POLITICALLY CORRECT [CLANISM / CLASSISM / CLASSIST].

DIVERSITY:

An increasingly popular concept promoting brotherhood, acceptance, and recognition for all people, regardless of politically correct criteria such as ethnicity, religion, or sex. The celebration of diversity of form has not been extended to include prenatal children. [DEI (standing for Diversity Equity Inclusion) is often used by Cultural Marxists to engage in separation and segregation, in direct counter to the United States' proclaimed and stated goals of "The Melting Pot" (actual diversity and inclusion through assimilation) and USA "E Pluribus Unum" ("from many one" slogan – see also: https://substack.com/home/post/p-155055453) motto.]

DIVINE RIGHT OF ABORTIONITES:

The belief among Abortionites is that any individual Abortionite has a divinely ordained right to abort any and all rights of members of the target populations of the various Abortionite sects.

DOBBS DECISION:

Many on both sides of the Abortionites issue deemed controversial the Supreme Court Of The United States in 2022. The Left deemed it controversial because while SCOTUS recognized Federalism and States Rights (Tenth Amendment) and returned the issue of Abortion Law back to the States. Many on The Right admonished the Court for completely ignoring the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.]

DOMINION:

A Biblical concept, especially important to Calvinists, regarding the relationship of man to the rest of creation, especially life on earth. Perverted by necropimps in certain churches, in a classic exercise of Orwellian reality control, to provide theological cover for prenatal child-killing in spite of the fact that Calvin himself was strongly opposed to this abomination.

DOUBLETHINK:

A complex concept first explored by George Orwell in the novel "1984," succinctly described as the ability to hold two contradictory thoughts in one's mind simultaneously and accept both. Necrochoicers evidence mastery of the practice when they claim to believe in the sanctity of life while accepting the deliberate destruction of prenatal life for virtually any reason.

DRAFT:

A procedure historically used to involuntarily select men for military service to protect the nation's interests. Subsequent participation in warfare could then expose them to a variety of extremely unpleasant situations for indefinite periods, as well as loss of their lives, or physical and emotional problems for the remainder of their lives. Suggested contrast with the proposed pro-life agenda of requiring pregnancies to be completed to preserve human life and the nation's moral integrity. While usually inconvenient and occasionally hazardous, pregnancy is of finite duration with few physical or emotional negative aftereffects. It is also usually due to one's own actions. Even when it is not, the pro-life agenda is much less demanding of women than the draft has been of men. See also BIOLOGY BASED DEFENSE.

DREADED COMPLICATION:

A term used by abortionists to describe the birth of a live and often seriously injured baby as a result of a failed attempt to kill the child prenatally.

DYSPONSIBLE:

Characterized by having an especially perverse responsibility dysfunction, such as opposing capital punishment for the culpable while defending the practice against the most helpless and innocent members of human society.

EMBRYO:

A scientific term for an organism in the early stages of its development. In humans, it usually occurs before ten weeks of gestation.

ENSOULMENT:

The process or time at which the soul enters the physical human body, according to some theologians. Often used as a basis for ridicule by Birthist Abortionites because it is not provable in any scientific sense.

ENVIROMENTAL CASE:

A person so obsessed with the negative impacts of human activity on the natural environment as to be willing to dispense with human life, especially prenatally, to mitigate such harm. [Planet Worshiper, also known as Climate-Cultist.]

EUPHEMISM:

A semantic device highly favored by all varieties of Abortionites to put a positive face on their horrible sacramental practices and deny their realities. Some examples include "pro-choice," "final solution," "ethnic cleansing," and "reproductive freedom." [Often referred to as "Politically Correct" speech, Newspeak, Alinsky deflection (Alinsky 7 D's(TheLibertyBeacon), 7 D's follow up(substack)), etc.]

EUTHANASIA:

A single word oxymoron and euphemism meaning "good death." The practice of putting the sick out of our misery by active means or neglect [and modern methods of ASSISTED-SUICIDE].

EVANGELICAL PAGANISM:

A cult movement dedicated to eradicating the restrictions of the predominant

Judeo-Christian culture on various forms of idol worship, particularly Abortionite sacraments.

EXTRA-UTERINE VIABILITY:

The ability of the child to survive in the extra-uterine or terrestrial environment. Suggested usage in conjunction with intra-uterine viability to emphasize that the prenatal child is perfectly "viable," i.e., able to live in the only environment to which it is adapted at that stage of the human life cycle. Extra-uterine viability actually exists at conception, as evidenced by the embryo's ability to begin development in a Petri dish, is temporarily lost as the embryo becomes more complex, and is regained in the latter stages of pregnancy.

EXTREMIST:

An all-purpose epithet favored by those unable to articulate a rational objection to their opponents' positions. Thus, defenders of prenatal children, especially if they reject most or all hard case wedge issues, are "extreme" while those who accept the destruction of prenatal children for any reason at any time are "enlightened," "tolerant," "defenders of freedom," etc. See also PROJECTION.

EXTRINSICIST:

An individual who believes that fundamental human rights are extrinsic, being granted to the powerless by the powerful. A primary characteristic of Abortionites. See also INTRINSICIST.

FASCIST:

Used as an epithet by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers to describe pro-lifers whom they regard as wanting to restrict their religious freedom to practice the Abortionite sacrament of prenatal child killing. Real fascists (fascism) are members of other Abortionite sects, especially the Racist sect, which have been historically discredited and are more readily identifiable. [While German NAZI-SOCIES (as coined by Josef Goebbels of the National Socialists Deutschland Arbeiter Party (NSDAP, Natl Social German Workers Party) itself, later so-called as "FASCISTS" later on in their movement completely ignoring Adolf Hitler's (man who later became the authoritarian dictatorial "Fuhrer" of the German State) May 1st 1927 testament and commitment to "Socialism" statement and/or attesting to the NSDAP's actual political movement affiliations. A left-of-center political philosophy as others (communism, socialism, monarchy, others/etc.) belief in one or few with power/control over the masses and anti-thetical to the American limited Constitutional Republic (not MOBocracy or INEPTorcracy) governance but often deployed as Psychological Projection or deeming of others (guilt by association) false narrative to discredit others and avoid actual conversations/discussion of political topics/issues.]

FEMICIDE:

The preferential killing of female prenatal children [as most notably originated and is still practiced in Communist China]. See also GENDER CLEANSING.

FEMINASS:

An individual, usually female, who believes that the practice of prenatal child-killing or its toleration somehow enhances the dignity, character, standing, or other aspects of the lives of women. [Modern parlance has added the term AWFL (Affluent White Female Liberal, often attributed to Steve Sailer as it being coined by) for the continued killing of Black Children for CLASSIST reasons, as well as associated with the state of FETIPHOBIA.]

FEMINAZI:

An individual, usually female, who is a dedicated and fanatical abortionmonger. Such individuals believe that the option to kill prenatal children is essential to the political, social, and economic advancement of women. [Often attributed to being coined by, or at least popularized by, conservative talk-show host Rush Limbaugh.]

FEMINAZI ABORTIONMONGERING SOW:

A suggested response to the epithet "male chauvinist pig" when merited. [Also often coupled with the concept of a/the Male of a species has no say in the Abortionite Birthist Cult realm – often easily countered by "I don't have a Tail, but that does not preclude me from caring about Animal Rights!"]

FEMINFERIORITY COMPLEX:

An assortment of negative feelings and reactions common to female Birthist Abortionites, which are elicited by any suggestion that prenatal child-killing should be restricted. These include anger, resentment, humiliation, and general emotional distress. It is regarded as outrageously insulting by such individuals that such nonentities as prenatal children should be accorded any recognition or protection by society which would limit the options of their mothers. See also TOXIC SHAME.

FEMINIST:

A pro-life, usually female individual who believes in and works toward the political, social, and economic equality of women with men. Commonly misunderstood to be in favor of the option of prenatal child-killing. True feminists believe that it is the male-dominated society that must change to accommodate the real and different needs of women and children, rather than that women must change to become the killers of their own children to achieve equality (thereby adopting some of the worst characteristics commonly attributed to men) or that children must be sacrificed. [Today, "Feminism" is recognized as having "evolved" and developed potential "stages" controversially and disputed, that sub-classes of which are "positive" or "negative" to/for/on societal developments.]

FERTILIZATION:

The union of sperm and egg cells results in a zygote or fertilized egg. Identical in meaning to the term "conception."

FETAL-CERVICAL DISPROPORTION:

A term used by abortionists to describe the problem of extracting the relatively large prenatal child's body through the relatively small cervical opening.

FETIPHOBIA:

The irrational fear that the acknowledgment of the fundamental right to life for prenatal children must somehow diminish the nature or standing of women in society.

FETUS:

From the Latin for "young one," the prenatal child from approximately ten weeks of gestation until birth. Preferred terminology by many Birthist Abortionites for its scientific correctness, yet general unfamiliarity or strange quality, which aids in dehumanizing their target population. Generally applied to any prenatal child regarded as a potential recipient of the Birthist sacrament of prenatal child-killing. [Often used as an Alinsky deflection tactic to avoid the term BABY. See also: BLOB.]

FINAL SOLUTION:

A euphemism and necronym concocted by the Racist sect of Abortionism which held political power in Germany in the 1930s and 1940s. Used to describe the genocide practiced against the Jews. The full name was "Final Solution for the Jewish Problem." Prenatal child-killing has become America's Final Solution for the "Negro Problem," the unwanted pregnancy problem, and other "problems" with controlling the populations of "undesirables" as perceived by those who control the nation's cultural agenda. [See also: MARGARET SANGER and THE NEGRO PROJECT – ITPLC-07 sub-section of ITPLC chapter.]

FIRST AMENDMENT:

The part of the United States Constitution that forbids the government from restricting certain rights of the people and from establishing a national religion or restricting the free exercise of religion. [Related: The Jefferson Letter regarding "Separation of Church and State" often mis-applied by Leftists as "Separation From Church To State" (CTP (20260617 S4EJunSpecial3) Andrew Linn Church And State BTS/SP video (https://old.bitchute.com/video/XUUq7AanHv84/)), also ChristTitutionalist Podcast S4E157 "logos" episode (CTP (20260620 S4E157) logos (Greek) Origins Of Words and Of Our Free Speech Rights BTS/SP video - https://old.bitchute.com/video/OQ3isJ68vyAQ/) regarding speech aspects of the 1st Amendment to/of the U. S. Constitution's "Bill Of Rights," as well as https://www.thelibertybeacon.com/leftists-the-7-ds/.]

FIRST STRIKE:

An act of war intended to deny the target its defenses, usually by surprise or swiftness, such that effective defense cannot be employed. Prenatal child-killing accomplishes this by pre-empting the rights normally accorded to human individuals after birth. Nowhere is this intent clearer than in partial birth abortion.

FLIPSPEAK:

The use of terminology in such a way that words mean the opposite of their literal or traditional meaning. A technique for diminishing the power of words. See also OPPSPEAK [deflection, distraction, distortion, denial, etc., also Orwellian Newspeak and see too "Leftist 7 D's"].

FORCE:

A term used by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like to describe any restrictions on prenatal child-killing. Women are always described as being "forced" rather than simply required to take certain actions. A term much favored by the necromedia that never describes prenatal children as being forced to give up their lives. Also, one of the two essential elements of law is morality.

[FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT:

The contention of "equal protection" under law, in case of infant and/or unborn rights, that any human may not be deprived of life without due process of hearing or even medical board consultation. Particularly spelled out in Section 1 of the Amendment as based on prior Civil Rights legislation: "…No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person [human] of life*, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.."]*

FREEDOM:

The state or condition in which individuals may make choices within limits designed to safeguard the well-being of all members of society, with the benefits depending on whether they are exercised with love. It can also be characterized as the ability to choose good over evil. Choosing evil over good is an abuse of freedom and a failure to observe the basic Law to love one's neighbor as oneself.

FREEDOM IS SLAVERY:

A slogan of the totalitarian party in George Orwell's "1984" which is a guiding principle of Abortionism. The benefits of freedom require that good be chosen over evil and that it be exercised in love, whereas Abortionism requires that evil be chosen over good and that love be regarded as one of many antiquated, sentimental ideas from oppressive ethical systems which demand self-denial and self-discipline. The slogan is a deliberate exercise in doublethink, a skill developed by practicing Abortionites. True freedom, which requires the individual to work at developing a sound conscience rather than one with the Abortionite blind spot, is slavery to Abortionites. [Also- known-as: Newspeak, distortions of language: https://www.thelibertybeacon.com/leftists-the-7-ds/.]

[Image source: AZQuotes (image not part of original piece).]

FREE THINKER:

An individual unencumbered by the accumulated knowledge and wisdom of the ages who persists in formulating moral philosophies in the blissful vacuum of ignorance, all the while believing this practice to be the epitome of sophistication and rationality.

FUNCTIONALIST:

An individual who believes that the rights of others may be aborted at any time, sometimes to the point of justifying their total destruction, on the basis of their functions or abilities. A member of the Functionalist or Utilitarianist sects of Abortionism. Of or pertaining to the Functionalist sect. See also ABLE-IST and UTILITARIANIST.

GAMETE:

A reproductive or germ cell having half the somatic chromosomal complement (haploid) produced by the process of meiosis in organisms that reproduce sexually. An egg or sperm in humans. Such cells have no destiny but death within hours or days at most unless fused with their counterpart by fertilization. They do not proceed through the human life cycle or produce other forms, and are not individuals of our species whose loss carries any moral significance. Yet it is a favorite fixation of the Birthist bio-ignorant to claim that life is a continuum having no identifiable starting point because these forms exist. Such persons are unable or unwilling to distinguish these isolated cells from those diploid cells that constitute an individual of our species that is proceeding through the life cycle. See also LIFE CYCLE. [See also HAPLOID.]

GENDER CLEANSING:

The elimination of one sex from a human population. Usually conducted against females prenatally. See also FEMICIDE.

[GENDERIST:

One that denies biological science known for millennia that in a sexual species, thre are two sexes male and female. 99.93% of humans have XX or XY sex chromosomes (rest is mutative abnormality, exceptions to rule – not a "choice"). Being one sex but thinking you're another has until recently been medically recognized as a mental/psychological disorder known as "Gender dysphoria," and mandating a widespread enabling of a disorder is sociopathy.]

GESTATION:

The state, process, or period of growth and development of a human being or other species in the womb from conception to birth.

[GOSNELL, KERMIT:

An American abortion doctor who operated an unregulated clinic in West Philadelphia. In 2013, he was convicted of the first-degree murders of three infants who were born alive during late-term abortions (illegal in that State at that time) and subsequently killed/murdered. See related https://beforeitsnews.com/healthcare/2018/10/gosnell-jurors-put-the-lie-to-the-prochoice-meme-and-what-really-occurs-in-abortion-clinics-2537087.html and https://www.google.com/search?q=gosnell+movie.]

GRAND DELUSION, THE:

The belief that the abrogation of fundamental human rights can be conducted on the basis of selected criteria without danger of the criteria expanding to target additional populations.

GRAND HALLUCINATION, THE:

The persistent and habitual belief or thought process that regards child-killing as a legitimate expression of freedom.

GRAND ILLUSION, THE:

The persistent and habitual belief or thought process that proceeds as though prenatal children somehow do not already exist. Usually evidenced by fluency in Abortionspeak.

GRAVIDA:

The scientifically correct term for "pregnant woman." Suggested as an example of dehumanizing language for those who insist upon the terms "fetus" and "embryo" or even more dehumanizing concoctions of their own. [See also BLOB and/or FETUS, as well as the more modern attempted dodge "Clump of Cells" terminology to deny and deflect from the facts of that never in the course of human history has "conception" by a human female (fertilization of human female egg) led to anything other than the gestation and birthing of a "human" child (Alien hybrid "conjecture" not-withstanding). Also led to the famous Ben Carson quotation: "If it is not a human child, then why are you harvesting organs from it for other humans' use?" as many Klinik's sell off the harvested body parts.]

"IT HAS ITS OWN DNA.
IT HAS ITS OWN GENETIC CODE.
IT HAS ITS OWN BLOOD TYPE.
IT HAS ITS OWN FUNCTIONING BRAIN,
ITS OWN FUNCTIONING KIDNEYS, ITS OWN FUNCTIONING LUNGS, ITS OWN DREAMS.
IT'S NOT THE WOMAN'S BODY.
IT'S IN THE WOMAN'S BODY.
THAT'S NOT THE SAME."

[Image source: Human Coalition.]

GRIM REAPERS:

Persons advocating the loosening of moral strictures that protect helpless human individuals either prenatally or postnatally in order to facilitate the harvesting of their organs for research or transplantation purposes.

HAPLOID:

Having half the full complement of chromosomes in the cell, with only one of each pair being present. Typical of gametes produced by the process of meiosis. See also GAMETE.

HARD CASES:

That set of legitimate human concerns, such as rape, extreme poverty, mothers' health [see related C. Everett Koop and GRAVIDA], etc., has been effectively employed by Birthist Abortionites as wedge issues to divide the prenatal and postnatal human populations from each other. See also WEDGE ISSUE.

HAVE A BABY:

A “considered now” to be “quaint old phrase” traditionally used to mean "give birth." Perverted into the lexicon of lies known as Abortionspeak to promote The Grand Illusion that prenatal children somehow do not exist until birth.

HEALTH CARE:

A term used euphemistically by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like to include acts that result in the deaths of human beings. Such use is an example of a necronym and a Big Lie. See also NECRONYM and BIG LIE. [Often used in conjunction with “Reproductive Rights” dodge as Pregnancy, conception, means “Reproduction” has already occurred.]

HIPPOCRATIC OAF:

A practitioner of the medical arts who has abandoned the principles of the Hippocratic oath, which generally prohibit doing any harm and explicitly prohibit the giving of deadly medicine or a device to cause the death of an unborn baby.

[HIPPOCRATIC OATH:

From the Greek. Often summed as “Do No Harm!” Not knowingly to do harm, while abortion is a direct harm, intending the death of a patient/human or other species being aborted/killed/murdered.]

HIS BABY:

A term used by the mother or others to describe an unwanted prenatal child, especially if the mother was an unwilling participant in its conception. One of many indicators that abortionthink is in progress. The child, as always, is just as much hers as his, regardless of the father's social standing. See also MY BABY, ABORTIONTHINK, FETUS, BLOB, CLUMP OF CELLS, PRODUCTS OF CONCEPTION, etc.

HISTORIGNORANT:

Ignorant of history, especially deliberately so in order to justify particular viewpoints or practices. See also DENIAL.

HUBRIS:

Excessive or overweening pride or arrogance. Characteristic of Abortionites as they determine who may or may not be included in the human community. Especially evident among Birthists as they prejudge the quality of life of an individual over an entire lifetime based on anticipated circumstances at birth, which is itself usually many months away.

HUMAN BEING:

An individual living creature (being) of the human species, Homo sapiens. The term describes only the biological nature of the entity, not any philosophical or religious concepts that many attach to what it means to "be human." The individual progresses through stages of development, changing habitat at birth, but remaining the same individual and species throughout the process. Often confused by the bio-ignorant with isolated living cells, such as gametes, which do not proceed through a life cycle. Bio-ignoramuses also often define the term as a biological entity based on philosophical criteria that are irrelevant to biology.

HUMAN SACRIFICE:

An ancient Abortionite sacrament in which human lives are destroyed in offerings to false gods. See also IDOLATRY.

HUMANISM:

The parent philosophy of positivism is the parent philosophy of Abortionism. The philosophy is based on the principle that man is the measure of all things.

HYSTEROTOMY:

A Cesarean section performed to remove a late-term prenatal child and kill it by means of neglect, starvation, drowning, strangulation, suffocation, etc.

IDOLATRY:

The worship of false gods. Universally practiced by Abortionites of every sect whose primary false god is often their own intellect. Other common Abortionite idols include money, power, sex, convenience, and image or reputation.

IGNOPHILIA:

The love of ignorance. Typical of Abortionites of every sect.

IGNORANCE IS STRENGTH:

A slogan of the totalitarian party in George Orwell's "1984" which expresses a guiding principle of all Abortionites. Cultivated ignorance of the humanity of the target populations of the various Abortionite sects, coupled with ignorance of ethical systems that reject Abortionism, is the strength of the cult. The slogan is a deliberate exercise in doublethink, a skill mastered by mature Abortionites, typically recruited from cultures where it is believed that knowledge is power.

IGNORANT AND ABORTED:

The modern-day equivalent of "barefoot and pregnant."

IMMATURE ADULT:

A convert or full member of the Sexist sect of Abortionism is usually described by the sect as a "mature adult." An example of oppspeak. All Abortionites are morally immature, having developed to varying degrees the Abortionite blind spot or complete Abortionite syndrome. See also PORNOGRAPHY, ABORTIONITE BLIND SPOT, ABORTIONITE SYNDROME, OPPSPEAK and FLIPSPEAK.

IMPLANTATION:

The anchoring of the developing embryo in the uterine wall about a week after conception, which soon makes it detectable by testing the mother's blood or urine due to hormonal secretions. Suggested by some as a time before which the embryo's destruction may be morally permissible because it is undetectable, and by others as a time after which its destruction may be permitted because it is then fully dependent upon the mother. Both approaches are typical of the ethically dysfunctional and morally retarded thought processes of mature Abortionites.

IMMUNITY OF NON-COMBATANTS:

An ethical rule in warfare, commonly violated in modern times, which requires that unarmed civilian populations never be directly attacked. A primary basis for objections to nuclear war planning. Commonly violated by analogy in the war on prenatal children, who are innocent victims of the behavior of others. [See too COLLATERAL DAMAGE.]

INCLUSIVENESS:

An increasingly popular concept describing actions, words, and thinking that carefully avoid excluding any members of the human family on the basis of such politically correct criteria as sex, ethnicity, language, and religion, from any human activity. Inclusiveness has not yet advanced to the point of applying to prenatal children who may still be excluded from the activity of simply remaining alive. True inclusiveness is an exercise in love and the giving of the benefit of any doubt to the other. [Related: DEI (standing for Diversity Equity Inclusion) is often used by Cultural Marxists to engage in separation and segregation, in direct counter to the United States' proclaimed and stated goals of "The Melting Pot" (actual diversity and inclusion through assimilation) and USA "E Pluribus Unum" ("from many one" slogan – see also: https://substack.com/home/post/p-155055453) motto.]

[INFANTICIDE:

Modern and long clinical contextualized definitions exist – see: https://www.google.com/search?q=infanticide. See also, POST PARTUM ABORTION.]

INTELLECT WORSHIP:

The most common form of idolatry among Abortionites who passionately believe in their own powers of reason to rationally determine who may or may not be included in the human community.

INTRA-UTERINE VIABILITY:

The ability of the prenatal child to survive in the intra-uterine, prenatal environment or habitat. Used to emphasize that prenatal children are perfectly "viable" in this environment.

INTRINSICIST:

An individual who believes that fundamental human rights are intrinsic to each human individual from the beginning of their existence. A primary characteristic of pro-lifers. See also EXTRINSICIST.

IN VITRO FERTILIZATION:

The bringing together of egg and sperm in a glass dish outside the body to ensure fertilization occurs regardless of the condition of the mother's internal organs. The success of this technique puts to rest all nonsensical assertions that there is any question about when each individual human life begins.

IRREVERSIBILITY:

That quality of a process that precludes a prior state from being attained again. The characteristic associated with brain wave loss under the present state of technology that is most responsible for its acceptance as a criterion of death. It can also be said that an individual human life is irreversibly present after conception and that all the criteria treasured by bio-ignoramuses and other Birthist Abortionites, such as sentience and self-awareness, will be irreversibly met if the prenatal child is not destroyed.

JOLLY MOLLY:

A suggested symbol for Birthist Abortionism consisting of a skull within the mirror of Venus (feminine symbol composed of a circle with a cross below) and having hooked ends on the cross to form a swastika. A takeoff on the Jolly Roger and Molly Yard.

JUDICIAL ACTIVIST:

An aspiring tyrant, frustrated by the democratic process, who believes it to be his or her divinely ordained mission in life to instruct lesser intellects as to what their laws ought to be.

JUDICIAL REVIEW:

The legal doctrine that courts may pass judgment on the constitutionality of laws passed by legislatures instead of merely resolving disputes in accordance with those laws. A power not granted to the judiciary under the United States Constitution, which only defines the jurisdiction of the courts (the types of cases they may handle). Successfully ignored by some early presidents, it is now regarded as cast in stone and a favorite necropimping tool for Birthist Abortionites to thwart all attempts to restore legal protection to prenatal children.

LAW:

An enforceable rule set forth by a governing body based on moral principle. Law not based on morality is based only on force.

LAW OF THE JUNGLE:

The social operating principle is based on "might makes right, "eat or be eaten," or similar dicta. The operating principle of those who would justify the destruction of prenatal children conceived by acts of rape. [Anarchy]

[Image source: Copyright and attribution credit unknown. Google (and other) reverse image lookup service attempts to seek proper accreditation purposes, but do not yield definitive results on origins generally attributed, based upon the Ron Paul reference within the image, to libertine group(s) of the 1980s and 1990s.]

LIBERALISM:

A brain disease characterized by blind faith in human reason to radically and beneficially restructure society in spite of all historical experience to the contrary. Often accompanied by responsibility dysfunction. See also RESPONSIBILITY DYSFUNCTION.

LIBERTARIANISM:

A political philosophy that proclaims love of freedom and eschews force of any kind, yet claims significant numbers of Birthist Abortionites as adherents. Its basic flaw is that it is not based on love of neighbor but apathy toward neighbor and love only of self. See also FREEDOM. [A right-of-center political philosophy close to Anarcho-syndicalist societal beliefs.]

LIFE:

The sum of biological, scientifically observable phenomena which distinguish animals and plants from inorganic objects and dead organisms, being manifested primarily by growth through metabolism, reproduction, and the power of adaptation to the environment through changes originating internally. RIGHT-TO-LIFE see FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT as well as Offices for the RTL movement.

[Image source: Upper Downriver – Michigan RTL created with GalaxyAI and see also https://udmi-rtl.org.]

LIFE CYCLE:

The continuous sequence of changes undergone by an organism from one primary form to the development of the same form again. A biological concept denied or confused by the Birthist bio-ignorant to alternately deny that prenatal children are living members of their species or claim that gametes constitute individual organisms. See also GAMETE.

LITMUS TEST:

A term adopted from chemistry to mean a test to serve as a yes or no criterion for some decision, especially regarding suitability for public office, based on an individual's view of prenatal child-killing. Hurled in an accusatory manner by Birthists and necropimps when pro-lifers object to a necrochoicer as a nominee, but never used by necrochoicers in such fashion when abortionmongers reject a pro-lifer for the same reason. See also POLITICALLY CORRECT.

MAKE LOVE:

A formerly innocent phrase to describe human sexual intercourse, which has been adopted by culture assassins to include all instances of fornication and copulation wherein love is frequently totally absent. An example of oppspeak.

MALTHANASIA:

A suggested alternative to the single word oxymoron and euphemism

"euthanasia."

MANTRA:

A word or phrase to be repeated over and over to numb the mind and crowd out troubling thoughts arising from remnants of conscience. A favorite prayer form of Abortionites.

MEDICAL CARE:

Actions intended to heal unhealthy conditions. Often used as a euphemism and a neologism by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like to include the practice of prenatal child-killing. Such usage is an example of a necronym and a Big Lie. See also NECRONYM and BIG LIE.

MEDICIDE:

Literally, the killing of medicine or the medical profession (a point that should be stressed by pro-lifers). Used by fanatics favoring doctor-assisted suicide to describe this unethical practice.

MEDI-WHORE:

A medically trained individual who has prostituted his or her medical skills to destroy human life, usually prenatally. See also ABORTIONIST [and HIPPOCRATIC OATH as well as HIPPOCRATIC OAF].

MEIOSIS:

The process of cell division, which yields the haploid germ cells or gametes, which have half the full chromosomal complement.

MENGELE, JOSEF:

Known as the "angel of death" at the Auschwitz death camp, Dr. Mengele was in charge of medical experimentation on the prisoners. An abortionist in his later years, in hiding in South America.

MITOSIS:

The process of cell division in somatic cells, which yields cells having identical diploid chromosomal complements.

MODERATE:

The necromedia's preferred descriptor for political figures who lack the moral courage or intellectual capacity to defend the lives of prenatal children. See also RELIGIOUS RIGHT.

MORAL ATROPHY:

The state of moral decay in a society is caused by the failure to exercise existing moral authority over a long period.

MORALITY:

Conformity to generally accepted rules of right or virtuous conduct. An essential element of all just laws.

MORALYSIS:

The breakdown or loosening of commonly accepted moral standards of behavior in a society usually results from damage to key social institutions such as families and churches.

MORAPLEGIA:

The paralysis of the social machinery for shaping moral individuals under incessant assault.

MOTHER TO BE:

A quaint old phrase traditionally used to refer to a pregnant woman or gravida. Perverted into the lexicon of lies known as Abortionspeak to promote The Grand Illusion that prenatal babies somehow do not already exist. [Pregnancy is a known, normal, and natural state of inter-relational inter-gender (male/female) sex that results. It is not a disease or abnormality, therefore aborting a child is not "Health Care" but the killing/murdering of a life under all prior definitions of law destroyed by the Liberal Activist SCOTUS' Roe v Wade ruling.]

MURDER:

An Abortionite sacrament that has historically been practiced many times and in many places by nearly every Abortionite sect. The choice of aborting the life of another person. Prenatal child-killing has not historically been treated as murder in the legal sense, nor would it be if the protection of law were restored to prenatal children, but abortionmongers have found it effective to make this claim. [Pregnancy is a known, normal, and natural state of inter-relational inter-gender (male/female) sex that results. It is not a disease or abnormality, therefore aborting a child is not "Health Care" but the killing/ murdering of a life under all prior definitions of law destroyed by the Liberal Activist SCOTUS' Roe v Wade ruling.]

MY BABY [Our Baby, Their Baby, etc.]:

A term used by a woman to describe her prenatal child when it is wanted by her. See also HIS BABY.

NARAL:

Variously known as Necrochoicers Attacking Religion And Law, Nihilists Against Reason And Limits, and many other descriptors. An organization of the most virulent strains of Birthist Abortionites and the most fanatical of abortionmongers devoted to the dehumanization of prenatal children by any and all means and the advancement of the malicious and unrestrained war against them.

NATIONAL PREMISE:

Stated as "truths we hold self-evident" by the nation's founders, the belief that our fundamental and inalienable (not transferable) human rights are intrinsic to each of us from the time we are created as living individuals of our species, having been granted to us by our Creator [inalienable rights, see too Fourteenth Amendment] rather than by any human source. See also INTRINSICIST.

NATURALIZATION:

The legal process by which citizenship is conferred on persons born in foreign countries.

NECRO-ADVOCACY:

Promoting or advocating death as a legitimate option under certain circumstances.

NECROCHOICE:

A suggested alternative to the euphemism "pro-choice" to reflect the true nature of the choice being advocated and help focus attention on the fact that this is the only thing that makes prenatal child-killing objectionable or controversial.

NECROCHOICER:

An individual who believes that under certain circumstances death may be a legitimate and appropriate choice to make for oneself or to make for others.

NECROGUSHING:

Speaking of death with longing sentimentality or warmth and enthusiasm.

NECROMEDIA:

The portion of the professional news and information media that is aware of the power of language and that unprofessionally persists in conducting its coverage of child killing in Abortionspeak to promote their own anti-life agenda. The necromedia commonly engage in news dialysis and censorship of pro-life events and perspectives.

CTP (S3E123) #ENEMEdia: Spin, Faith, And Facts
We challenge media spin, examine how data gets shaped into narratives, and argue for full-context faith and personal humility as tools for finding truth. We also unpack crime statistics, algorithmic bubbles, and why support keeps independent voices alive.

NECROMYTHOLOGY:

Any of numerous ludicrous ideas about the biology of human life put forth as scientifically meaningful by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and others suffering from cultivated ignorance. The most extreme would have us accept that children suddenly spring to life at birth like Athena from the head of Zeus or that life somehow begins at some ill-defined time long after birth. See also BRAIN DEAD.

NECRONYM:

A word or phrase used as a substitute for a death-dealing Abortionite sacrament, often depending upon context and usually in a euphemistic manner. Some examples include "choice," "reproductive freedom," "medical care," "Final Solution," and "privacy."

NECROPIMPING:

Pimping for death. The providing of intellectual, theological, political, social, or other cover for the medical prostitutes of the abortion industry. Also applicable to those who would pervert the medical profession into an agent of death for the sick. Usually committed by persons having influence in academia, the media, churches, government, and other critical social institutions, which have been strongly infiltrated by Birthists and other Abortionites.

NECROPSYCH:

A pop psychology based on the belief that death is a perfectly acceptable and even desirable outcome for the resolution of problems under a wide variety of circumstances.

NECROSHRINK:

A necrochoicer, abortionmonger or Abortionite, especially of the Birthist sect, who pathetically gropes for some hidden, sinister or somehow distorted psychological motivation for pro-life opposition to child-killing or other abortions of fundamental rights. These might include sexual hangups and desires to oppress women. Necroshrinks, like all Abortionites, suffer from the Abortionite blind spot, having completed the process of abortionthink, and therefore just don't get it.

NECROTHINK:

The mental preoccupation with and rationalization of death, whether one's own or others' through the practice of some Abortionite sacrament.

NECROSENTIMENTALITY:

The attitude that death is a desirable and good outcome or something to be longed for.

NEVER AGAIN:

A slogan or motto of survivors of the Nazi Holocaust expressing their determination that such monstrous crimes against humanity would never be tolerated again. Such has not been the case, either postnatally or, even more so, prenatally.

NEWS DIALYSIS:

The process of selecting or interpreting what is news so as to promote a particular point of view. Commonly practiced by necrochoicers and necropimps in the news media.

[Image source: Joseph M Lenard created using GalaxyAI for use with his "Click Bait Everywhere" and "False Narratives" musical tunes.]

NOW:

Nitwits, Oddballs, and Weirdos. An organization of feminazis and feminasses devoted to the destruction of the social fabric of American life, especially by attacking its most basic institution, the nuclear family.

NPR:

Necropimping Propaganda Radio. A national public radio network that conducts its coverage of the issue of prenatal child-killing in the preferred terminology of Birthist Abortionism.

OPPSPEAK:

The use of words in a context wherein they mean the opposite or something other than their original and commonly understood meanings. A technique to blunt the power of words and ideas, especially when used to introduce moral confusion or uncertainty. See also FLIPSPEAK

ORIGINAL INTENT:

A legal doctrine, abhorrent to judicial activists, that laws should be interpreted in accordance with the original intent of their framers.

OUTCOME BASED MORALITY:

Morality based on desired outcomes rather than moral principles. A characteristic of Abortionites whose morality is rooted in might makes right. [Often associated with the political selfishness of Anarchy advocates, though not entirely as oxymoronically many on left wanting communism, fascism, or socialism, also engage in such. So in that regard shared by both extreme political spectrum governance believers of the ultra-right (Anarchists) and ultra-left (communists, fascists, socialists, etc.).]

PLANNED PARENTHOOD:

An organization that originated in the Racist and Utilitarianist sects of Abortionism and is now the largest operator of Birthist Abortionite temples in the United States. [See related ITPLC-07 Margaret Sanger sub-section of this manuscript.]

PARASITE:

An animal or plant that lives on or in an organism of another species from whose body it obtains nutrients. Typically confused by the bio-ignorant with the nurturing relationship of one species for its own young.

PARTIAL BIRTH ABORTION:

See DILATATION AND EXTRACTION.

PEOPLE FOR THE AMERICAN WAYWARD:

An organization that panders to religiphobes and attempts to limit or negate the influence of religious Americans in public life.

PERSON:

A human being or other legal entity (such as a corporation) recognized by law as having rights and duties.

PERSONALLY OPPOSED:

See PONTIUS PILATE POSTURE.

PERSONHOOD:

The crux of the issue of prenatal child-killing. The state of possessing those qualities deemed essential to recognition and protection of the law. [See also FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT.]

PHILOSOFOOL:

An individual who habitually confuses philosophical or religious beliefs with scientific knowledge, such as the definition of life or the motion of the planets. See also BRAIN DEAD and NECROMYTHOLOGY.

POLITICALLLY CORRECT [aka: WOKE]:

A term to describe the self-righteous attitude of Reformed Abortionites who believe they are morally superior due to the strength of their commitment to oppose the more generally discredited Abortionite criteria for exclusion. See also REFORMED ABORTIONISM and WOKE.

PONTIUS PILATE POSTURE:

The position, especially among politicians, of claiming to be personally opposed to private executions of the known innocent while refusing to use official or other personal authority to do anything to stop them. Usually also characterized by a willingness to assist in the executions out of an unstated belief that such actions are politically or otherwise advantageous.

PORNOGRAPHY:

Hate literature characteristic of the Sexist sect of Abortionism. See also, IMMATURE ADULT.

POSITIVISM:

The philosophy that rights are bestowed by the government rather than pre-existing or intrinsic. The principal philosophical premise of Abortionism. [Direct refutation of the foundations of the United States and declarative founding documents of "inalienable rights" given by God.]

POSTNATAL ABORTION:

The killing of a person, especially a young child, after birth. Suggested usage with "prenatal abortion" to emphasize that there is no difference in killing before or after birth. See also PRENATAL ABORTION and POST PARTUM ABORTION.

POST PARTUM ABORTION:

Infanticide. See also POSTNATAL ABORTION and PRENATAL ABORTION.

POTENTIAL LIFE:

A ludicrous example of bio-ignorant Abortionspeak used to describe prenatal human life. A prenatal child is a potential newborn just as a newborn is a potential adult, but there is nothing potential about the biological life of either.

POWER:

The central organizing principle of Abortionism, as identified by Orwell.

Nineteen Eighty-Four Novel by George Orwell
Nineteen Eighty-Four (or 1984) is a dystopian novel by George Orwell, published in 1949, that depicts a totalitarian superstate, Oceania, where the Party, led by the omnipresent Big Brother, controls every aspect of life through surveillance, propaganda, and thought control. The story follows protagonist Winston Smith, a low-ranking Party member who secretly rebels against the regime by seeking truth and engaging in a forbidden love affair with Julia, ultimately leading to his capture, torture, and psychological breakdown in the Ministry of Love, where he is forced to betray his love and accept the Party's ideology. The novel explores themes of totalitarianism, mass surveillance, censorship, and the manipulation of truth, and remains a powerful warning against authoritarianism.
Key aspects of the novel:
Setting: The novel is set in London, part of the superstate of Oceania, in a perpetual state of war.

PRE-EMBRYO:

A term concocted by abortionmongers and the like to further dehumanize the early-term prenatal child and facilitate experimentation upon it.

PREGNANCY:

A self-terminating condition of limited duration in which the prenatal child grows and develops within its mother's body to the point where it has acquired the necessary adaptations for survival in the next phase of the human life cycle. [A normal natural (not disease or abnormality) state of conception after fertilization of a biological species reproductive state.]

[PREGNANCY CENTER:

See CRISIS PREGNANCY CENTER]

PRPREGNANCY TISSUE:

A euphemism favored by abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, necrochoicers, and the like to dehumanize the prenatal child in the minds of potential Birthist converts. [See also, BLOB, CLUMP OF CELLS, and FETUS.]

PRE-MORTEM EXAMINATION:

Any physical exam or counseling session conducted at an abortuary prior to killing a prenatal child.

PRENATAL ABORTION:

Suggested usage with "postnatal abortion" or "post partum abortion" to emphasize that there is no difference between killing before or after birth. See also POSTNATAL ABORTION and POST PARTUM ABORTION.

PRENATAL APARTHEID:

The exclusion of the prenatal portion of humanity from social recognition and protection. See also DEVELOPMENTAL APARTHEID.

PRENATAL CARE:

Used as a euphemism to include prenatal child-killing by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers. Such usage is an example of a necronym and a BIG LIE.

PRENATAL CHILD:

A suggested term for usage in preference to the scientifically correct but sterile and dehumanizing terms "embryo" and "fetus" in most contexts.

PRENATAL HOSTAGE TAKING:

The use of the lives of prenatal children as a bargaining chip in negotiations over other items on the agenda of necrochoicers.

PRENATE:

A suggested single-word term for the prenatal child to include both the embryo and fetus. Its usage is intended to be more familiar, given the common use of the term "neonate," and less coldly scientific.

PRENATICIDE:

A suggested single-word term for prenatal child-killing to replace the more euphemistic "abortion." It has the advantage of identifying what is destroyed in more familiar, concise language while linking it to the act of killing. See also COMMIT ABORTION.

PRIVACY:

Used as a euphemism and a neologism for prenatal child-killing by Birthist

Abortionites, abortionmongers, and necrochoicers.

PRO-CHOICE:

The crowning jewel of Birthist Abortionite euphemisms consists of two positive terms for the philosophy and action of killing the most helpless and innocent of human beings. Frequently used as a mantra by its mindless devotees, the term neatly evades the fact that the only thing at issue is the nature of the choice and implicitly legitimizes the choice before any discussion can even begin. Immensely popular among necropimps for its effectiveness against the unconverted.

PRODUCTS OF CONCEPTION:

A euphemism favored by abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, necrochoicers and the like to dehumanize prenatal children in the minds of potential Birthist converts. All human beings are actually products of conception.

PROJECTION:

In psychology, the act of ascribing to someone or something else one's own attitudes, thoughts, traits, etc. Typical of Abortionites who accuse their opponents of being hateful, discriminatory, controlling or opposed to freedom.

PRO-LIFER:

An individual who believes in the sanctity of human life in all its stages and who is willing to defend it rather than stand idly by and permit human life to be destroyed.

PROSTAGLANDIN:

A hormone used to induce some abortions by injection into the amniotic sac. This causes violent labor and premature birth. The abortionist first injects a toxin to assure that the child is not born alive.

QUALITY OF LIFE:

One of the criteria for exclusion from the human community by the Utilitarianists or related sects of Abortionism.

QUICKENING:

The point during pregnancy at which the movements of the prenatal child can be felt by the mother. Used during earlier times, when scientific knowledge of prenatal life was less complete, to mark the time after which prenatal child-killing would no longer be permitted.

RACIST:

An individual who believes in aborting the rights of others, sometimes to the point of justifying their destruction, on the basis of their race or ethnic identity. A member of the Racist sect of Abortionism. [Well defined as known Cultural Marxist construct as all humans are of one "human" race with various sub-regional dialects, skin-tones, cultural traditions.]

RAPE:

The choice of forcing sexual intercourse upon another person. The trump card of abortionmongers. A wrong used repeatedly with great success to justify the additional wrong of child-killing when the only reason to oppose it, the nature of the prenatal child, has not changed in the least. Used to appeal to the best, most compassionate instincts in people to produce the worst possible reaction. See also WEDGE ISSUE.

RCAR:

Renegade Coven of Abortionite Reprobates. An organization devoted to necropimping from religious perspectives. Masters at Orwellian reality control with particular emphasis on the history of Judaism and Christianity.

REALITY CONTROL:

A technique identified by Orwell in which perceptions of the present and directions for the future are controlled by those who have the power to manipulate perceptions of the past. Expressed in the slogan from the novel "1984":

"Who controls the past controls the future. Who controls the present controls the past." Actively practiced by necrochoicers in all institutional settings where they may exert influence.

REFORMED ABORTIONISM:

A branch of Abortionism which emphatically rejects certain Abortionite criteria, such as race and sex, which have been generally rejected by society at large. Their Abortionite roots are evident in their efforts to marginalize and dehumanize their opponents and abort their fundamental rights. The predominant Abortionite sect of Reformed Abortionism is the Birthists. See also POLITICALLY CORRECT.

RELIGIOUS CLEANSING:

The deliberate exclusion of persons with religious principles or motivations from public policy forums and every other possible aspect of public life.

RELIGIOUS ISSUE:

A favorite Big Lie of Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers and necrochoicers to portray the human rights issue of prenatal child-killing as a religious matter to confuse or hide it behind common misunderstandings of the First Amendment.

RELIGIOUS LEFT:

Individuals who subvert divine authority by claiming a divinely ordained personal freedom of conscience to promote an Abortionite agenda. Includes many Abortionites, especially of the Birthist and Utilitarianist sects, who masquerade as Christians to more effectively necropimp. See also FREE THINKER and too Matthew 23.

[Image source: unknown, reverse image lookup yields conflicting results.]

RELIGIOUS RIGHT:

A derogatory label applied by abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, necrochoicers, and the like to their pro-life opponents to depict them as out of touch, extreme, fanatical, authoritarian*, and dangerous to personal liberties.

[despite most pro-lifers being part of the center-right political spectrum and opposing Leftist Federal edicts and dictates via top/down, full federal controlled, DC mandated, regulations, across variety of subject-matter of issues.]*

RELIGIPHOBIA:

The inner terror experienced at the thought that one's actions might be influenced by some religious belief or principle or that public policy might be affected by the same.

REPRODUCTION:

A necessary function for any living thing to survive as a species, often being possible only during some portion of the organism's life cycle. Typically denied by bio-ignorant Birthists as having occurred until after birth.

REPRODUCTIVE CLEANSING:

A term used to call to mind its related and equally reprehensible policy, ethnic cleansing. The cleaning up of the messy aftermath of reproductive actions, usually by vacuuming the victims out of their residence in pieces.

REPRODUCTIVE FREEDOM:

A euphemism and necronym used by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like, to refer to prenatal child-killing. True reproductive freedom is exercised before reproduction occurs. After conception, reproduction is an accomplished fact – and even though following conception, the act of reproduction and any "pre-reproduction rights" are moot.

REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH:

Still another euphemism used by Birthists, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, etc. to include the practice of prenatal child-killing. See also REPRODUCTIVE FREEDOM, even though following conception, the act of reproduction and any "pre-reproduction rights" are moot.

REPRODUCTIVE RACKETEERING:

A suggested phrase to describe the business of processing prenatal children for disposal or spare parts.

REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS:

A euphemism concocted by abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, necrochoicers, and the like to describe prenatal child-killing. See also REPRODUCTIVE FREEDOM, and even though following conception, the act of reproduction and any "pre-reproduction rights" are moot..

RESCUE:

A coordinated action of civil obedience by pro-lifers to shut down a Birthist Abortionite temple and/or intercept the intended recipients of the Abortionite sacraments and prevent their further indoctrination in the cult. See also CIVIL OBEDIENCE and CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE.

RESPONSIBILITY TRANSFER:

The act of shifting responsibility for one's actions to other parties by default or direct action. Applicable to the care of children conceived by irresponsible parents, support of such parents by the taxpayers or others, or the forcing of such children to pay for the actions of irresponsible parents with their lives.

RESPONSIBLE DEPARTURE:

A future euphemism to describe the coerced suicides or euthanizing of those who would otherwise irresponsibly burden their families or society at large with their continued support.

RESPONSIBILITY DYSFUNCTION:

The failure to attribute accountability for actions to individuals, usually burying it in some group. Often also characterized by a willingness to assume within the group the responsibility for many destructive behaviors while absolving individuals of personal culpability. Frequently also characterized by a willingness to punish the innocent, in particular prenatal children, for the actions of others.

ROE VS. WADE:

An act of tyranny committed by judicial activists on the United States Supreme Court in 1973 in which the premise of the nation, that we are endowed by our Creator with an inalienable right to life, was struck down and repudiated. The act violated numerous principles of law, morality, and logic and destroyed the nation's duly enacted state laws that protected prenatal human life, creating in their stead a state of anarchy with regard to protecting prenatal human life.

RU486:

A human pesticide used to chemically eliminate unwanted human life. An agent of chemical warfare whose use violates international law prohibiting this practice.

SADISTICIAN:

A devout Birthist Abortionite who is capable of justifying the deliberate killing of unlimited numbers of prenatal children at all stages of development and by any means if even the slightest degree of increased statistical risk to the mother can be demonstrated, even in a situation where both would have a very high probability of survival. Such sadistic analysis depends upon the Abortionite trait of attaching absolutely no value to the target population.

SAFE ABORTION:

An oxymoron used by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, and the like to describe prenatal child killing under pseudo-medical auspices. Virtually every abortion is intended to kill the prenatal child and can hardly be described as "safe."

SALTING OUT:

Also known as salt poisoning. A technique for late-term prenatal child killing in which a portion of the amniotic fluid is replaced by a caustic salt solution via a needle inserted through the mother's abdomen. The child writhes in agony as it is slowly poisoned and is expelled about a day later, hopefully (on the part of the abortionist) after it is dead.

SANCTITY OF LIFE:

The underlying ethic of all American law was destroyed by Roe v. Wade in 1973. One of the basic assumptions of civilization is that human life is made in the image and likeness of God and is therefore sacred and may not be violated.

SATANIC VERSES:

The United States Supreme Court's written opinions sanctioning prenatal child-killing, especially Roe v. Wade and Doe v. Bolton. Also, any other writings sanctioning this practice.

SCHMO CHOICE:

A choice for fools, especially Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers, the willfully bio-ignorant, morally retarded, ethically dysfunctional and intellectually slothful individuals who make apologies for prenatal child-killing.

SELECTIVE REDUCTION:

A euphemism for a prenatal child-killing procedure in which only some of the prenatal children present in a multiple pregnancy are destroyed.

SELF-AWARENESS:

A favorite criterion of philosofools and other bio-ignoramuses for their definition of life. Totally incapable of being quantified or even detected, it is as dangerous and potentially deadly a criterion for postnatal people as it is for prenatal children. As such, it is a perfect criterion for necrochoicers of every kind.

SENTIENCE:

The capacity for feeling, perceiving or sensing, the lack of which is the exclusionary criterion of the Sentiencist sect of Abortionism.

SENTIENCIST:

A member of the Sentiencist sect of Abortionism who believes in aborting the rights of others on the basis of whether or not they possess sentience, often to the point of justifying their deliberate destruction. This sect has the unusual characteristic of including non-human species within the community that is or should be recognized as having rights and protection under law. Of or pertaining to the Sentiencist sect. See also ANIMALIST.

SEX EDUCATION:

An educational program or process purported to convey value-neutral information about human biology and other aspects of human sexuality.

Frequently used as a vehicle to convey an assortment of values, attitudes, and moral and political judgments.

SEXIST:

An individual who believes in aborting the rights of others, sometimes to the point of justifying their destruction, on the basis of their sex. A member of the Sexist sect of Abortionism.

SEXUALLY ACTIVE:

A euphemism to describe individuals who are promiscuous or otherwise engaged in sexual relationships outside the institution of marriage.

SINGLE ISSUE:

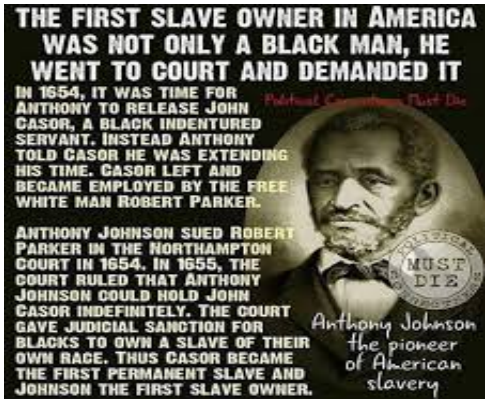
A term applied by abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, and necrochoicers to belittle the voting behavior of pro-lifers who regard any necrochoicer as unfit for public office at any level. Curiously, never applied by media necropimps to those who speak of "jobs, jobs, and jobs," "the economy, stupid," or other matters that can make all the difference to voters of particular constituencies.

SLAVER AID:

A hypothetical government program that might have been enacted prior to the Civil War to secure the right of poor whites to own black slaves. It can only be imagined what effect this might have had on the course of history by further entrenching and legitimizing slavery. Suggested usage to compare with Medicaid funding of prenatal child-killing.

SLAVERY:

An outdated Abortionite sacrament, primarily practiced by the Racist sect in the United States. The choice of holding other human beings in a condition of involuntary servitude.



THE FIRST SLAVE OWNER IN AMERICA WAS NOT ONLY A BLACK MAN, HE WENT TO COURT AND DEMANDED IT IN 1654, IT WAS TIME FOR ANTHONY TO RELEASE JOHN CASOR, A BLACK INDENTURED SERVANT. INSTEAD ANTHONY TOLD CASOR HE WAS EXTENDING HIS TIME. CASOR LEFT AND BECAME EMPLOYED BY THE FREE WHITE MAN ROBERT PARKER.
ANTHONY JOHNSON SUED ROBERT PARKER IN THE NORTHAMPTON COURT IN 1654. IN 1655, THE COURT RULED THAT ANTHONY JOHNSON COULD HOLD JOHN CASOR INDEFINITELY. THE COURT GAVE JUDICIAL SANCTION FOR BLACKS TO OWN A SLAVE OF THEIR OWN RACE. THUS CASOR BECAME THE FIRST PERMANENT SLAVE AND JOHNSON THE FIRST SLAVE OWNER.

SLIPPERY SLOPE:

A metaphorical moral slide which a society enters upon when it begins to compromise the sanctity of human life, the basic tenet of civilization, and finds it more and more difficult to restrain the expansion of the conditions for the destruction of human life. See also ABORTIONITE CLIFF.

SOUL:

The animating force or spiritual or moral nature of a human being in accordance with various theological systems.

STREET SMART:

Stupid. Involved in destructive and often criminal activities, such as illicit drugs or sex. A prime example of oppspeak. [And major distinction from equally pseudo-intellectual construct of secretive knowledge unkowingable by the masses. And different than "ignorant" as all humans are ignorant of many things until they engage logic, reason, learning, to educate oneself on a given topic, and vs. stupid, which is a chosen state of unknowing and uncaring.]

SPECIESIST:

A term used by Animalists to describe people who believe that human beings have dominion over all other species and may make use of them as they see fit. Used derogatorily with moral righteousness to convey disapproval of such discrimination. Presumably, all animals are speciesists, since they must consume members of other species as food.

SUICIDE:

The choice of ending one's own life.

SYMBIOSIS:

The living together of dissimilar organisms, especially when this association is mutually beneficial. Adamantly denied by bio-ignoramuses whose ludicrous definition of biological life requires total independence of an organism for it to be considered alive in order to justify prenatal child-killing. See also COMMENSALISM, DEPENDENCE, CULTIVATED IGNORANCE and BIO-IGNORANCE.

TERMINATE A PREGNANCY:

A euphemism popular among abortionmongers, Birthist Abortionites, necrochoicers and the like to describe the poisoning or live dismemberment of prenatal children. The natural termination of a pregnancy is known as childbirth.

THOUGHT POLICE:

A fictional law enforcement agency in Orwell's novel "1984" that guarded the nation's thoughts. Used derogatorily today against opponents on all sides of many issues. Necropimps in the national information media have been most effective in this role.

[TOXIC EMPATHY (aka: SUICIDAL EMPATHY):

Much in line with the old adage about not being so open-minded that one's brain falls out and one becomes incapable of thinking. State of so absorbed by emotional hysterics (Snowflake, WOKEist, etc.) one over-rides all other feelings and/or thoughts.]

Author: Allie Beth Stuckey
Focus: A religious, cultural, and political critique focused on how progressive ideologies have allegedly hijacked Christian compassion.

[Image source: Google ® search screenshot.]

TOXIC SHAME:

The belief by an individual that he or she is seriously flawed or inadequate, as popularized by psychologist John Bradshaw. Rampant among bogus feminists who believe that women are seriously flawed in that they can become pregnant and must be enabled to become unpregnant at will to more closely resemble men.

ULTRASOUND:

High-frequency sound waves are used to visualize prenatal children in real time for medical diagnostic purposes. Opposed by abortionmongers as a means to dissuade women from having their prenatal children destroyed. Sometimes used as part of a search and destroy policy to commit femicide or other gender cleansing or as part of some other prenatal child-killing program.

UNNATURAL LAW:

Any law of human origin that fails to recognize the humanity of any portion of the human race or sanctions the destruction of any part of the human population in preference to or by another.

UNNATURAL SELECTION:

The deliberate destruction of human life for less than compelling reasons, especially when committed by a mother against her own child.

UTERINE CONTENTS:

A euphemism used by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers, necrochoicers and the like to dehumanize the prenatal child and make killing it easier to rationalize.

UTILITARIANIST:

An individual who believes in aborting the rights of others, sometimes to the point of justifying their destruction, on the basis of their utility or social usefulness. A member of the Utilitarianist sect of Abortionism. See also ABLE-IST and FUNCTIONALIST.

UTILITY OF LIFE:

A societal operating principle that holds that human life has value only to the extent that it is or has the capability of becoming socially useful. Adopted by some European nations beginning in the 1920s with disastrous results. A competing ethic to the sanctity of human life. See also SANCTITY OF LIFE.

VIABILITY:

A term meaning ability to live or continue living in a particular habitat or under a given set of environmental conditions such as aquatic, terrestrial, intra-uterine, tropical, temperate or arctic. All living organisms possess viability in particular habitats or environments and may adapt themselves in the natural course of their life cycles to attain viability in other habitats or environments. Viability has been incorporated into Abortionspeak by Birthist Abortionites, abortionmongers and necrochoicers to insinuate that prenatal children are somehow not alive or not yet fully human when they are perfectly viable in their mother's womb. Suggested alternatives to this misnomer are "intra-uterine viability" and "extra-uterine viability."

VIOLENCE:

Injurious use of physical force. A favored description of pro-life activities by necropimps to accomplish character assassination against the pro-lifers. The violence of prenatal child-killing is never described as such.

WALL OF SEPARATION:

A much-misused metaphor for the division between church and state. Originally used to express the protection of the church from the power of the state, it has been corrupted by Evangelical Pagans to mean the isolation of public matters from any religious influence. It can also be used to describe the division between civilization and barbarianism, the former premised on the assumption of human rights being intrinsic to human life, and the latter based on might makes right. The first priority of any Abortionite missionary campaign is to breach this wall.[See also, Thomas Jefferson letter to Danbury Baptists.]

WANTEDNESS:

One of the most cherished criteria Birthist Abortionites cling to for granting or denying prenatal children the right to live. The incessant delivery of the message that human life is valued only insofar as it is wanted by those in power has played no small part in the alienation, anger, hopelessness and rebellion of many who feel very much unwanted. This, combined with the worship of choice, has fed many social ills such as crime and suicide but has been studiously ignored by the necromedia.

WAR IS PEACE:

A slogan of the totalitarian party of George Orwell's "1984" which expresses a guiding principle of all Abortionites. Every Abortionite believes that waging war on the target populations, particularly those of his or her sect, will constitute or bring about some vision of peace. The slogan is a deliberate exercise in doublethink, a skill developed by all mature Abortionites.

WEDGE ISSUE:

An otherwise legitimate concern used by Abortionites as a cynical ploy to divide people from each other to facilitate the aborting of the target population's fundamental human rights. Historically used by Racist Abortionites, examples being unemployment and immigration, more recent applications by Birthist Abortionites have focused on the so-called hard cases.

WHIM:

The ultimate rationale for prenatal child-killing. It boils down to "I want it (the right to kill prenatal children), therefore I should have it." It is might makes right, the essence of Abortionism. Often expressed in words similar to "I just think ..." due to the inability to articulate any credible rationale.

WHO DECIDES:

A concise summary of Abortionite philosophy, sometimes used as a mantra, expressing the belief that the abortion of one individual's human rights is a matter that may be decided by another individual. [See also, SLIPPERY SLOPE, and bear in mind if one can force euthanasia, as some such laws exist in western nations, one can also; as done in China; impose force abortion policies. See also, FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT protections.]

[WOKE:

Not awake to facts and/or reality, but one who lives in a delusional bubble. A term to describe the self-righteous attitude of Reformed Abortionites who believe they are morally superior due to the strength of their commitment to oppose the more generally discredited Abortionite criteria for exclusion. [See also POLITICALLLY CORRECT]

The Upper-Downriver (South of Detroit Michigan area) Right To Life Center now has a Mascot: Alumi-Baby.

Yes, this is dropping Saturday April 1st 2023… No, it is NOT an April Fools prank article/blog… VERY SERIOUS…

Upper-Downriver's Right-To-Life Center's own  * (name withheld for protection as Left-wing loon Murdering of Children has now escalated to Assaults on and Death-threats against Pro-Life defenders of Human-life; and destruction of Pro-Women-Health-Centers via vandalism and Arson) has for many years been tossing Aluminum cans into the fire pit on their property, as they then melt down, requiring less space before official recycling use. "Doe" (again, not real name) was having meltdowns from the fire pit recently, and an inspirational shape emerged. The Aluminum mass this time struck him, in that it was/is a distinct Human-Baby Fetal shape.

Alumi-Baby was born. Like a Phoenix from the Ashes: Superhero Alumi-Baby, our new Mascot, to JOIN THE PRO-LIFE FIGHT was Birthed. Move over DC and MARVEL, now comes a new Superhero – Alumi-Baby, the Patron Saint of/for the Un-Born.

Dear Friends, No, this is not trivializing nor frivolous. Our Mission is to reach and teach. Non-traditional methods, after the passing of Proposal-3 in Michigan, are needed NOW MORE THAN EVER. If a “cute little Mascot” can, may, help; and as Marketing Professionals know, you have to find ways to break through, let us embrace this concept!!

Sometimes inspiration can be found in unusual places. Many have claimed to see the face of Jesus in their food. Why then cannot a Pro-Life advocacy inspiration appear to us in Aluminum?!?!

You are the first to be introduced to Alumi-Baby, but a U-D/RTL Website (using WIX Website Services; to save our Volunteers' Donations for other purposes, we’ll be making use of their more-limited but FREE side functions) will also soon be born to give us a Search-Engine discoverable presence on the Internet. Allowing us to reach more people around S. E. Michigan and beyond.

Defending Life, Liberty, and Pursuit-of-Happiness, of/for others has never been without risk, but now requires ever more Patriotism and courage than before since the much predicted/anticipated overturn of RoeVWade by the Supreme Court of the United States (though by many people's standards ignoring the 14th Amendment (many contend is still the Ruling authority and precedence, setting yet another future Civil-Rights battle going forward that will demand another visit of the issue by the SCOTUS) and more and seemingly solely focusing on a 10th Amendment States-Rights Ruling to return the matter to the individual States.

The woman from Lake Odessa was speaking about Proposal 3, a proposed state constitutional amendment that would advance abortion [and other/additional "proclaimed Reproductive Rights" including legalizing Pedophilia by eliminating "consent" and "Statutory Rape Laws in Michigan], according to a Right to Life of Michigan (RLM) press release.

The press release said that the woman was shot in the back-shoulder area while leaving a residence [and posed zero physical harm, only was providing factual information as to the full-contents of the Ballot-initiative, to the woman nor her husband] during a conversation. The man who shot her was not involved in the conversation and the Pro-Life volunteer does not know his identity or motive.

Leftists and the 7 D's… *D*odge, *D*eflect, *D*istract, *D*istort, *D*eny, *D*eceive, *D*iscredit… All an extension of Saul Alinsky's "Rules for Radicals" tactics… [And extension of "Continued Twisting and Warping of Language (part 2)."]

Seven-headed beast of Daniel and Revelation come to mind? Not a coincidence!!! And indeed, this piece will definitely be highlighted in the follow-up to my "ChristiTutionalist ^{TM} Politics" book (dropped Aug. 11th, 2023), "ChristiTutionalist ^{TM} Politics 2," which is planned to drop in the summer of 2024 to lead into Elections 2024. It is NOT; however, coincidental modern politics are most often defined by left/right paradigm dynamics…

Job 8:6 - If you were pure and up*right*, surely now He would awake for you, and prosper your *right*ful dwelling

Deuteronomy 17:11 - According to the terms of the law which they teach you, and according to the verdict which they tell you, you shall do; you shall not turn aside from the word which they declare to you, to the right or the left.

Ecclesiastes 10:2 - A wise man's heart is at his right hand; but a fool's heart at his left.

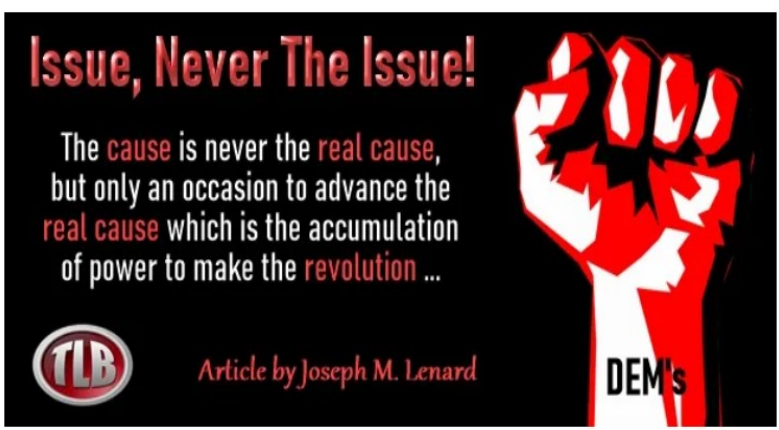
Another and more #FactsOverFear (get that gear at SavagedArmy.com) episode as Cousin Sos comes back on to discuss the latest attempts to (Saul Alinsky style) smear him (libel and slander (more distractions, deflections, distortions)) because what he is saying it FACTual about his situation with the College now trying to back-peddle about what they had already/previously put in writing to him! They don't like their WOKE-worship (not sound Biblical grounds) has been outed.

This applies to the attempts by The Left to charge anyone and everyone on The Right with bogus charges – and too the attempts to keep Trump off the Ballot in several States…

The ISSUE is never the issue with The Left, this is about LAWFARE, harassment, distortions / distractions, etc...



Issue, Never The Issue!
The cause is never the real cause, but only an occasion to advance the real cause which is the accumulation of power to make the revolution ...

BUT EVEN MORE SO about "diverting Resources" (add another “D” to the list as well as in Alinsky style “character destruction” and other D’s (and Cloward and Piven style actual, purposeful, willful, and with malice of forethought, destruction of USA by FASCICRATS)).

The Left wants to keep The Right in so many different LEGAL BATTLES that The Left knows it is not going to prevail (once goes to SCOTUS) on/with/over, BUT THE STRATEGY isn't to win, but TO DIVERT FUNDS

FROM CAMPAIGNS – Campaign Finance strategy!!!

The thought, and pretty sound one, is that we all have limited Resources. IF they keep us all donating to and spending on LEGAL DEFENSE FUNDS, that means we have LESS or none TO GIVE to/for our Candidates to help Win Elections!!!

VIDEO (5m 50s) What Is Identity Socialism (PragerU):
https://youtu.be/TAPOQFWSUkE?si=UPbk2p_zJQVY9TY5

This piece is already getting long, so rather than cut/paste over some more of the Before It's News piece this was/is based and expounded upon (shared some new information/updates), for those wanting to go deeper down the rabbit-hole see the original "When they can't refute your points, they resort to deflection tactic of attempting to attack the Source" (BeforeItsNews) piece.

Whether it be BeforeItsNews or any Internet site (even established MSM sites) that people use to anchor their Articles, when they can't defeat your arguments they try to delegitimize (discredit) the Source location (or, in general, can't refute provided facts directly maybe even not shared via an Article – out of desperation SLANDER, the last resort of the Scoundrel – my just launch baseless ad hominem Alinsky style attacks (DuckDuckGo search him if you are clueless who he is and the Fascicrats' never-ending use of his "Rules For Radicals" outline))…

Any given "piece" depends upon the credibility of the individual author, not necessarily the Platform on which it is posted! This particular post, as are many of my pieces, are either posted or cross-posted on #B4IN Platform (yes, I am well aware of, and steer clear of (several, discredited, out-right) morons that do indeed also post here – they have nothing to do with my factual posts and I personally nothing to do with their garbage) but the whole platform becomes a convenient dodge/deflection when a Leftist cannot refute my factual and/or reasoned thoughts (not feelings) pieces!

Ever notice how people who are incapable of putting together any coherent refutation of what someone says in an Article have to resort to the usual tactic of deflection by trying to attack the source location (or impugn the grammar or something else) of any such Article?!?! Often, they probably hadn't even bothered to read what it is they insist has to be invalid (just, cuz, you know, they don't like the Source) after just reading the headline, and it upset their feelings, and therefore try to keep others from engaging in actual thought and discussion about the content of said Article!

And, Heaven forbid, don't accidentally spell a word incorrectly… Some will be so enraged at your words, but know they cannot refute them, but will be unable to resist lashing out and attacking the incorrect spelling… If you ever do, and the Trolls respond – reply: "Note that there is always someone that knows they cannot refute the SUBSTANCE of the words of something, but is so enraged they cannot resist having to attack an accidental incorrect spelling of a word instead to try and be dismissive of the overall thoughts/points/ substance they know to be valid and therefore deem "dangerous" if others were to read them that they have to try and convince others to not read said words! Lol"

And now you have this Article to share and bolster any responses you choose to make in response to their desperate, dismissive assaults!

[Image source: Joseph M Lenard facebook threads.]

The clearly Marxist Professor, well trained/indoctrinated (moron joins us on Maverick News 1h44m in) Povlovian dog (hears the TRUMP BELL and) keeps using "AUTOCRAT" …. with NO CLUE (Princess Bride "You keep using that term. I don't think it means what you think" style) it means, as he keeps defending Fascist Leftist dictates! Personally, I think he is, as Rush Limbaugh used to say, a "seminar caller" Leftist trying to masquerade as a "Small-Government Republican," he kept clearly falsely claiming to be, and the one and only thing he agreed with Trump on? Operation Warped Speed, a big Federal Government spending boondoggle that did NOT deliver what it promised (as most Federal programs we spend money on/in).

WE HEAR THEIR CRIES – lyrics:

[Verse 1]
Tiny heart
Tiny hands I can't see
But I feel you there
You're already changing me
Doctor's room humming
Screen glowing soft white
I hear more than numbers
I hear a new life

[Chorus]
I'm unapologetically pro-life
It's our duty
To stand on this side
For the least of these
I will raise my voice high
We hear their cries
From down deep inside
We hear their cries
We keep them safe
Keep them alive (oh yeah)

[Verse 2]
There's a world out here
You haven't seen yet
Sunday shoes
School shoes
Puddles you ain't jumped in Laughter at the table
Birthday candle light
All that in a whisper
Hidden out of sight

[Chorus]
I'm unapologetically pro-life
It's our duty
To stand on this side
For the most fragile
I will lay down my pride
We hear their cries
From down deep inside

We hear their cries
We keep them safe
Keep them alive

[Bridge]
When they say you're just a choice
I'll call you by your name
When the world grows cold and loud
I will take the blame
I'll be your defender
While you're small and quiet
Love will be our answer
Every single time (hey!)

[Chorus]
I'm unapologetically pro-life
It's our duty
To stand on this side
For the voiceless child
I will testify
We hear their cries
From down deep inside
We hear their cries
We keep them safe
Keep them alive
We hear their cries
And we keep them safe
Keep them alive

[Bridge]
Pro-Life. It is our duty to protect the most vulnerable, known more vulnerable than child in the womb. I am without apologies Pro-Life. We hear their cries, from down deep inside. keep them safe, show them they are loved.

[Chorus]
I'm unapologetically pro-life
It's our duty
To stand on this side
For the voiceless child
I will testify
We hear their cries
From down deep inside
We hear their cries
We keep them safe

Keep them alive
We hear their cries
And we keep them safe
Keep them alive

UDMI-RTL Music: Writing For Life:

Writing For Life
- Precious, all stages, from conception through all stages, we fight for the right, the right to life, we raise our voices, for Life, the other choice.
https://suno.com/s/zw4IrVcvbwbjR8XJ

[Verse]
Tiny flicker a whispered dream
A secret spark a vibrant gleam
Before the world can ever see
A silent promise meant to be

[Prechorus]
Hear the beat hear the sound
Life's rhythm all around

[Chorus]
We fight for life we raise our voice
Life the other choice
Every breath a precious prize
through every phrase, every stage,
conception to natural death,
See the hope in brand new eyes
Life the other choice
Make some noise

[Verse 2]
From first hello to silver hair
A journey taken a love to share
Through sunny days and falling rain
We stand together ease the pain

[Prechorus]
Hear the beat hear the sound
Life's rhythm all around

[Final Chorus]
We fight for life we raise our voice
Life the other choice
Every breath a precious prize
through every phrase, every stage,

conception to natural death,
See the hope in brand new eyes
Life the other choice
Make some noise
